THE TECH
Published daily, except Saturday, during the college year by students at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Entered as second-class matter, Sept. 29, 1910, at the post-office at Boston, Mass., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

News Board.
C. E. McLaughlin 1912 Editor-in-Chief
G. B. Wharton 1913 Managing Editor
S. E. Blanding 1911 Institute Editor
P. M. Tyler 1912 Athlete Editor
D. J. Mooney 1913 Business Editor
T. E. Senior 1912 Gen'l News Editor

Business Staff.
A. W. Yerance 1911 Business Manager
C. Fallon 1912 Advertising Manager
A. W. Kenney 1913 Circulation Manager

Political Staff.
R. W. Wadsworth 1911 Associate Editor
A. W. Fox 1912 Associate Editor
S. R. Mackellar 1912 Associate Editor

Column Staff.
J. V. Macdonough 1912 News Editor
W. J. Mooney 1913 News Editor

Societies Staff.
E. W. Tarr 1912 Athletics Editor
C. D. Swain 1913 Athletics Editor
E. L. Macdonald 1913 Athletics Editor
P. L. Flansburg 1912 Athletics Editor

FINE ARTS BOARD

J. V. Macdonough 1912 Secretary
J. L. Mooney 1912 Director

Societies.
E. W. Tyler 1912 Athletic Association
E. W. Tarr 1912 Debating Association
C. D. Swain 1913 Debate Association
E. L. Macdonald 1913 Debate Association
P. L. Flansburg 1912 Debate Association

Special Staff.
S. E. Bates 1911 Institute Secretary
O. B. Denison 1911 Managing Secretary
D. J. McGrath 1912 Institute Manager

The first dinner of the new men at the Institute is to be held in the Union this week Saturday, October 1, at 6:30 p.m. Although this dinner is planned largely for the freshmen, all other men at the Institute are invited to attend. Men connected with the various branches of Institute activity have been invited to speak: so any new man should make this opportunity to get acquainted with Tech men and Tech affairs. Tickets are fifty cents and may be secured at The Tech office. All new men, get acquainted with each other and with The Tech.

Technology leads.
(Continued from page 1.)

Dr. Rockwell then devotes considerable space to the definition of the term "freshman." As before Field-Day, a custom which had degenerated into a ridiculous and as dangerous phenomenon, it is now largely to the credit of the freshmen of this year. There has been no mobbing or verbal assault by the men of more upper class. There have been no attacks on the professional status of the freshmen. Nevertheless, the growth of intermural ideas.

In closing the writer says: "We are led to believe that our present schemes of organization and our athletic policy are justified by the results which have been obtained. There can, of course, be no question as to the necessity for rational physical exercise, and the development of competitive sports within the academic body almost entirely eliminates any serious apprehension that physical training may be too hard or too strenuous. The intellectual, social and moral growth of the Institute is usefully dependent on the perfectly developed man, and our athletic men are an integral element in the whole scheme of its education."