By the death of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe America loses her most noted woman, and along the living link with the generation of brilliant personalities that distinguished Boston in the third quarter of the nineteenth century is broken. The chief facts of her life she has told herself in autobiographical form, and it is not necessary to repeat them here. To the general reader she is now and probably will always be known as the author of "The Battle Hymn to the Republic," a lyric which is as familiar as is "America." To those who knew her, however, she was far more remarkable for her personality than for any particular thing she wrote or worked on. A product of the old-fashioned code of education, which made the classics, Greek, Latin and English, the foundation of culture, and nourished on the Greek, Latin and French, the foundation of culture, and nourished on the rules of good taste and the principles of art and writing, she was a type which today is becoming extinct. She had a keen sense of humor and enjoyed good company. Her mind was naturally a quick and alert quality, and it had been fed by the best thoughts of the ages. It was above everything vivacious, and in its adaptability, its wit, its unfailing youth. She had, too, the persistence and energy to resist any inclination which might cause her to follow any trend. She was a woman of the old and Italian that she might not fall into Intransigent; that is, she never yielded. She said a friend a year or two ago that Miss Anthony and Mrs. Stanton were the only two women who .

THE TUCHE

ATTENDANCE AT UNION INCREASING EVERY WEEK

Dining Room Shows Profit of Over $33 Last Week

2023 Served

Two thousand and twenty-three persons were served at the Union dining room during the week. It is hoped that this attendance will continue at the same rate for the coming week.

DIining ROOM

Inventory, 1910-9-1 .. $438.49

Provisions purchased (receipts) .. 202.12

Supplies sold .. 4.50

Gum .. 2.97

Inventory, 19-10-9 .. $446.90

Supplies bought .. 284.02

Pay roll .. 24.05

Taxes .. 18.66

Profit .. $585.35

PROFIT COUNTER

Inventory, 1910-9-1.. $107.55

Cash .. 51.30

Profits on accounts .. 150.37

Inventory, 19-10-9 .. $105.54

Supplies bought .. 46.79

Taxes .. 2.50

Profit .. $160.33

There is now a net profit in all departments of $10.45 for this year. This, however, does not include the equipment account of $225.55 incurred this year. The management desires to make this up as soon as possible.

Sophomores Developing Strong Teams in Football and Relay

The Sophomores are making a great deal of headway this year, and the results of their past play have been excellent. They have won two Field Days since Field Day was instituted in 1901. The only difference since that time has been that this year's team is the first of 1901, which was composed of a number of the strongest men on the campus.

Last year 1913 won by getting the best baking in Football. The team is constituted entirely of Sophomores and have enough men out to work two full teams against each other. Each team is coached by the team, and a number of men are reporting to Coach Krass in the afternoon every relay practice. Among them are Captain C. W. Cates, E. S. Munch, J. J. Stradan, W. R. Mattson, R. C. Thompson, C. F. Cairns, W. A. Griswold, B. D. Hayes, J. D. Russell, A. D. Conant, H. D. Brinton, R. D. Sampson and several others. Preliminary trials are in progress and the final trials probably the inter.

The Log cabin squad is working on the Oval one night and at the Gym the next night. The only thing that the Freshman team.

1911 ELECTIONS

The election of 1911 officers for the coming year is to be held soon, and for this purpose nominations must be held by members of the house. The officers are president, vice-president, secretary, and members of the Institute Committee, and two directors. All those together form the Board of Directors of the house. There are also five members of the Athletic Association to be elected. The nominees are chosen by ten men, no man to sign the nominations of more than one man for the office.

Nominations are now open and will remain until Wednesday, October 26, at 4 P.M.

At the University of Washington the co-eds are allowed to wear the Varsity "W" for excellence in the various branches of sport.

"ENGINEERING INSTRUMENTS" C. E. TALK

Mr. R. L. Wardell of Keuffel and Esser Co. to Describe Construction

Prof. B. Bates on The Battle Hymn to the Republic

By Jula Ward Howe

Says That by Her Death America

Loses Her Most Noted Woman

The death of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe America loses its most noted woman, and with her the living link with the generation of brilliant personalities that distinguished Boston in the third quarter of the nineteenth century is broken. The chief facts of her life she has told herself in autobiographical form, and it is not necessary to repeat them here. To the general reader she is now and probably will always be known as the author of "The Battle Hymn to the Republic," a lyric which is as familiar as is "America." To those who knew her, however, she was far more remarkable for her personality than for any particular thing she wrote or worked on. A product of the old-fashioned code of education, which made the classics, Greek, Latin and English, the foundation of culture, and nourished on the Greek, Latin and French, the foundation of culture, and nourished on the rules of good taste and the principles of art and writing, she was a type which today is becoming extinct. She had a keen sense of humor and enjoyed good company. Her mind was naturally a quick and alert quality, and it had been fed by the best thoughts of the ages. It was above everything vivacious, and in its adaptability, its wit, its unfailing youth. She had, too, the persistence and energy to resist any inclination which might cause her to follow any trend. She was a woman of the old and Italian that she might not fall into Intransigent; that is, she never yielded. She said a friend a year or two ago that Miss Anthony and Mrs. Stanton were the only two women who...