CONCERTS ANNOUNCED BY MUSICAL CLUBS

New Coach for Glee Club—Trips to Auburndale and Portsmouth

That the Glee Club would be a decided success this year was assured when a new coach was appointed to the club recently. So far the greater part of the time has been devoted to the study of songs, and the manager says that he is ready for all the singing he can handle. He is making a full report for practice Tuesday.

A new coach has recently been secured—Mr. P. G. Hunt—who is a well-known composer in the New England Conservatory of Music, and new songs have been selected. The Glee Club is to be made up of two classes, and the earlier ones will be given at Auburndale and Portsmouth. The latter set will consist of the older members and the centre of the college.

With such a good start and a plentiful supply of new material to augment the old, the early practice sessions, by the older men, the Glee Club looks forward to another successful year.

The Mandolin Club, too, has been hard at work, and the practice has begun every Monday and Thursday afternoon. Among the new members selected for the season are: Cohen, Gardner, Shaw, Taylor, Smith, Hiller, Bowler, Kinns, Tisdale, J. M. Witte, Crankshaw, and Rogers.

Sophomores on Field Day. The following men who are interested should come up than at the preliminaries held on the 14th.

No college or school can claim the right of priority over the Institute of a practical system of preventing one man holding too many offices. This year the system was adopted.

During the preliminaries the number of holding two or more offices, the points for the purpose. It must be remembered that the system has been copied almost as valuably as any other, so a large audience should hear both speakers.

BALLOONISTS TO BE ROYALLY ENTERTAINED

Allan H. Hawley and Augustus Post, the two balloonists, are to be royally entertained when they arrive in New York. All the aviators in that city will be present at the dinner given in their honor. These men, after being given up for lost or marooned in the Atlantic, were sighted flying at 350 miles from St. Louis, near the Illinois border. Their late experiences were as exciting as they were unique. On the morning of this day they were forced to land because of the approach of a storm. After four days of hard walking they were finally met by some trappers. These men proceeded to take them back to civilization.
