RELAY RACE WON BY 1913.

The sixth event of the day was the relay race, won by 1913. Strachan and Hurlbert started off at the sig-and Strachan immediately the pole and made a big gain on his rival. He passed to Sampson. Stu-ibs made a poor pass to Wilkins.
A. D. Sampson increased the lead by 1913. Strachan the flag to Haynes. Willings in passing to Hiller fell, owing to the muddy condition of the track as well as the quicksand fell. Haynes was on the home stretch to Sampson. Hiller

Due to the driving rain, the course was in fearful condition. The brook in the middle of the woods was over its feet wide and a foot deep, and all the meadows were covered with water. Many, many times the de-teers were necessary in several spots to avoid the sticky water, and the times the time made was very good. The following is the order of the finish:
