LONDON ENTERTAINS AMERICAN SAILORS

Music Halls and Theatres Are Thrown Open to Visitors For Ensuing Week.

DINNER FOR ADM. SCHROEDER.
Second Division Cheered and Saluted Upon its Entrance into the Athenaeum.

England is exhibiting the liveliest interest in the arrival of the American fleet. The ships reached there today, and London will soon be filled with our Jacks who are expected to entertain royalty. The British Session's officers and Society's boats, as well as the music halls and theatres, have sent offers of hospitality to Commander Simpson, American naval attaché at London. The Pilgrims Society will give a luncheon for Rear Admiral Schroeder, who, however, is expected to arrive in London. It was an inspiring sight when the American fleet, streaming into Portland this morning, passed the second division of the British fleet, and saluted for more than half an hour.

An unusual courtesy, seldom granted to men of foreign ships, has been extended to the Americans; that is, the privileges of the naval arsenal at Portland and of the Sailors Home in Vermont have been placed.

The battleship Minnesota (Rear Admiral Munford Shapley), U.S. Mississippi and Vermont, which compose the third division, experienced very rough weather throughout the passage, but arrived today at Gravesend and none the worse for the trip.

MOORCROPS PAYS $13,000,000 IN-DEMNITY TO SPAIN.

As a result of the Spanish campaign against the Riff tribesmen in the summer of 1909, Morocco has agreed to pay Spain an indemnity of $13,000,000. Besides the payment of the indemnity Morocco is to cede to Spain the territory which lies about 16 miles east of the Spanish settlement of Melilla, which is six miles beyond the furthest point occupied by the Spanish army during the war. Customs houses are to be established at Melilla and Oentos. The Canaries government is greatly strengthened by this favorable settlement.

MUSICAL CLUBS NEED BANJOS AND GUITARS

Interesting Plans Being Formed For Future Concerts.

That the musical clubs of Tech are making great progress was easily apparent at the rehearsal of the Mandolin Club at the Union yesterday. The spirit of the work augurs well for its future success. The first selection was "Le Lisbon" in the second aria, "Charme d'Amour," the greatest success was obtained with distinction. The remainder of the program consisted of "The Teddy Bear's Picnic," and the seductive "Madame Sherry." The men who were present yesterday were Taylor, Stubbs, Benson, Moore, Carter, Lewis, Bryant, Holme, Brodhead, Durocher, Applequist, Dento, Atlon and Wheeler. A handi compartments is to be formed, and more men who play the banjos are wanted. W. D. Richardson, manager of the clubs two years ago, is in temporary charge. More guitars are also in demand.

Plans are being furnished to make the mid-winter concert to be held in the Copley Hall, December 19, 1910, the best ever.

The Glee Club also showed up well at its rehearsal, and the enthusiasm of the club'sprospects. The advancements of the clubs as a whole leave nothing to be desired. With more practice, the organization will develop and round out in fine style.

THE HORNETS NEST

"Well, as Professor Cross said the other day, the frequency of his work is proportional to the square root of his length." What do you say about that?

"Everyone laughed but Billiken, who muttered a muffled "Shut up, can't you see the matter with you today, anyway?"

"I can't ask a question, say anything, or even smile without him jumping all over me. I asked him to come up here to the rehearsal of the Mandolin Club at the Union yesterday. He asked me today how was the difference between a crotchet and a whole, and he told me to refer to the乐队的 theo- ry book. I got recovered from this blow he asked me how far was between two points. (How long is a piece of string?) Then a little later, when he asked me a question which he couldn't answer, why just because I held up my hand and said my fingers, he took me to get my hand down, that I looked like an idiot, you know, Billiken."

"So far, so good," replied Cat, "but did you ever stop to think what a nuisance the "Poorfoul Question Flied" and the "in a great deal, do you suppose are to the professor? I heard a lot.
