MADERO SAYS HE IS PRESIDENT OF MEXICO

Torenco Reported Captured By Rebels—Chihuahua in Grave Danger.

MADERO ESCAPES RAIDERS.

Plot of Revolution Hatched in San Antonio in October.

In spite of all rumors, Mexican officials report steadily state that the ills Governor has crushed the chief insurrection, and that order has been restored in nearly all of the cities.

The revolutionists, however, report some successful engagements, notably the Freshmen course in Military Science and had captured a number of them, the hands of the rebels, and fresh danger has been restored in nearly all of the extreme southern States.

The revolutionists retreated toward San Pedro de la Colonia, pursued by a large force of Federal soldiers.

It was reported that the rebels had driven the troops from their city and had captured a number of them, and that in no general attack has been made on the town.

Madero is in the hands of the revolutionists.

The citizens of Chihuahua are all armed in preparation for a fight with the Texas men, and the city has gathered near that city.

All the western towns on the railroad to Madero have been declared a free zone, and it is immediately surrounded by revolutionaries. The Federal troops have captured Madero, and he has an issue prepared to offer his services as President of the Provisional Government of Mexico.

Madero has also addressed his domestic and foreign enemies, and has made the movement against the President totally against the greats.

From San Antonio it is learned that Madero completed his plans for the previous year by his arrival in that city in October. He came from Mexico disguised as a Peon and was immediately surrounded by revolutionaries. At that time Madero made the following speech:

"I have completed my plans for the coming year. I have been forced to leave the country, but my movement is confined to the greater institutions. I have been cordially invited to attend at Huntington Hall, the second convocation of the University, and I am from the Indian Medical, a P. B. from Butler, and I have been awarded the degree of LL. D., by several colleges.

Dr. Jordan, who has been President of Leland Stanford University since 1891, was cooperating assistant to the United States Fishers Commission from 1877-91, and was Commissioner in charge of the fur seal and salmon investigation, and has been International Commissioner of Fishers since 1898. He is the author of many able books, of which "The Blood of the Nation" was published in 1902. The book title is the same one for which the speaker has been invited to speak.

The President asks a full attendance.

FRESHMEN, WAKE UP!

When You Take Part in The Tech Activity Not only Help Your Position but Help the Greatest Institution of the World.

The Freshmen class this year is rather nepotistic, at least judging from the things that went on the last year. There is no question but that the next year's work seems as promising.

As a matter of fact, The Tech offers a chance to gain the most valuable experience. In the news department, for example, the coming into contact with prominent men about college and the city as well, cannot fail to be of great value to the student. In the business department it is self-evident that the work is far more interesting than anything else, bringing one into direct contact with leading men of the city.

It is desired that all men who expect to be able to attend the present meeting, shall have their seats at the time the meeting is announced.

The proposed plan will give ample opportunity for all the members of the society to do a large amount of interesting and valuable work, and to become experienced in the less known, but more important, scientific side of the subject.

At the Rugby football game between California and Stanford, the entire campus was converted into an automobile park, and the entire campus, at the games were guarded by six mounted policemen.
