Hotel Somerset Crowded with Graduates of Institute
President Macauley, one of the Speakers of the Evening.

"Efficiency"—the keynote of the evening at the annual banquet of the Institute. President Macauley, saying that he had been last night at Hotel Somerset—was well exemplified by the manner in which he added to the reputation of Technologists. "I am here to-day to discuss with the Institute of Technology another way in which the State of Massachusetts contributes to the progress of the world."

At the close of the night there was much music and mirth, and more stories of former days at the Institute went the rounds.
