Who said that the Seconds couldn't play basketball? Pretty classy game they played Wednesday night, from all reports. Money would make a Varsity man if he could only take on a little weight.

Welcome to the big crowds at the Gym last night, as the track managers. The fellows backed the basketball management at the Boston College game. Why do not the same for your own class as you do for the Institute teams?

Who said the track team wasn't going to be strong this year?

Good luck, Hockey Team. Get to them the way that you did to Dartmouth and you may well wear a smile.

With that we were going to be in Hanover tomorrow night. Some large time in that new Gym? But we are picking up Professor Parker's boys to win by some eight points.

Are you the man who got those theatre tickets this week, or did you decide that somebody else was better suited to write these hours of hot air? Nice shows in town now, you know.

At last we have hopes of a real live Show this year. Looked rather black for a time, didn't it? Now for the "dread" freshman chorus girls and their pretty smiles.

Calendar comes to the front again with their usual annuality in allowing all kinds of confab. Was the vacation too long for you, or just the same old Excuse?

Technicue Board is surely hard working, but the third year men should all remember that they are a part of the board, "ex-officio," and that the success of the book lies in a large degree with them. So help all you can, TWELVE. It's your book, you know.

DON'T FORGET THAT TRACK MEET TONIGHT!

Have you signed up for the Junior Prom yet? They are after you.

Collegian News.

All those failing in examinations at the University of Colorado must wear a small blue cap with green buttons. Brown has just dedicated her new John Hay Library, a fine addition to the campus.

The Senior Class at the University of Illinois has initiated a campaign against the prohibition of alcoholic beverages. A resolution was introduced asking a committee of five to study the question.

Of the 490 members of Congress, 297 are college men. One hundred and forty-two are free from any charge, while not a single member of Congress is a student of Illinois University. Some of the professors are good men, but they should be better.

The German Universities this year enroll 52,500 students.

The women at Syracuse are to hold a track meet.

Theoretical and practical work in aviation is to be carried on by an Aerological Society organized by students of the University of Michigan.

Many of the professional societies are to be commended for their work this term and more now so that the Civil Engineering Society. A striking example of the active part that this society takes among the members of Course I and XI was demonstrated at its recent meeting. Any able speaker, fully competent to address the society on a subject of vital interest, had been secured, and the members of the society responded with an audience estimated at one hundred and fifty. These men gave the speaker their whole attention and none of them left before the adjournment of the meeting, a happening which has been altogether too frequent at many meetings. The society is to be entirely dissolved. The women at Syracuse are to hold a track meet.
