SATURDAY FEBRUARY 18, 1911

Two years ago, we celebrated our home by holding a remarkably successful Hook Night. The event was awaited with considerable interest and excitement and more than 100 elaborate preparations were made by the various committees. There was no reason to expect a failure, for there was a keen is preparation for the event and the night degenerated into a "rough house" affair, we may say, for although the Calendar Committee had the right to declare itself unfair, it did not have the right to prevent an event from being held.

COMMUNICATION

At an early meeting of the officers of the class of 1914 a baseball manager will be chosen and arrangements for the coming baseball season will be discussed. It is desired that as many names as possible be at hand when this position is filled. Each man is expected to send in his application, and then the Calendar Committee will make the final choice. The committee will have in mind the following points:

1. The manager should be able to make arrangements for the best men in the country.
2. The manager should have a thorough knowledge of the game.
3. The manager should have the ability to organize a team.
4. The manager should have the ability to keep the team in good condition.
5. The manager should have the ability to get the best players for the team.
6. The manager should have the ability to get the best facilities for the team.
7. The manager should have the ability to keep the team in good health.
8. The manager should have the ability to get the best facilities for the team.
9. The manager should have the ability to get the best facilities for the team.
10. The manager should have the ability to get the best facilities for the team.

The 1913 Electoral Committee is to be congratulated for its fairness in its decision. It is naturally hard for an organization elected to declare itself unfair. In so doing, its members show clever, and get your friends out. Make Hook Night this year a howling success.
