COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of The Tech.

A short time ago the Bulletin Board Committee received a complaint from one of its members, that there has been doing a large amount of advertising, concerning the taking of one of these posters from the bulletin board in the Union. This theft occurred five days before the event was scheduled to take place, and the management had to make another day at the expense of much time and trouble. A few days later the Prom Committee found that one of their most attractive posters had been stolen. Both of the posters were valuable ones, especially the latter which was hand painted, and was one of the best seen on the boards for a long time. Of course it is almost impossible to find who the thief is for a fellow who is dishonest enough to steal certain will not confess. A similar thing happened at Tufts a few days ago when several of the most attractive posters had been ripped down. It is broadening the mind of the public to consider how quick they'll bring protection. Ask for the best and see how quick you'll bring you.
