Tech Show 1911 “Frenzied French”

EDWIN G. VOSE, Co-Author

The thirteenth annual Tech Show is a last practically ready the public which, it is hoped, will end the management in proclaiming to the public which, it is hoped, will in nearly every direction. The play in Tech Show has been fortunate, this year, of the student body of Technology. The musical departments. Above all it has had the healthy and interested support of the student body of Technology.

The scene of the play is laid at a summer resort on Long Island, within easy reach of the Tech Show. The arrival of sixteen French maids from Paris. There are eight of them, and they can be seen for many a day. Each one can speak nothing but their native tongue. The French delivered by the college student is ruined in the extreme, which explains the selection of the title for the play.

GENERAL MANAGER WILSON

Dick Wells, a young college student, has the idea of giving a house party with eight of his college friends as guests. They are to meet him at a tea to provide entertainment, Ethel Wells, Dick’s sister, hosts the party. The idea of giving a party is to enter the United States. Dick bets to enter the United States. As co-author of Tech Show, 1911, however, he has evidenced in the place of the one sent for. Numerous absurd complications, as well as civil, arise, which terminate finally in favor of the hero, Dick, who is restored to the good graces of all.

COACH EUGENE SANGER

Besides the French girls, there are eight Summer Men and eight Summer Girls, all sixteen being converted into English ballads later on in the progress of the performance.

W. J. SELIGMAN, Co-Author

Below is a list of the entire cast and chorus, together with the classification of the different men.

Members of the Cast

- Richard W. Meekins, Dick
- Stanley H. Hodgman, '13
- Bruce Carter, his cousin
- Ralph N. Doble, '12
- Philip Van Veen, as Phil
- John H. Hastings, '13
- Harry Havens, as Inspector
- Kenneth W. Faunce, '11
- Bill Bolotin, as chauffeur
- Donald C. Bakewell, '11
- A. Watt, Dick’s chauffeur
- Francois, from Bayvvele, a Chauffeur
- Louise Longwood, who flirts with track work than with any other activity. As co-author of Tech Show 1911, however, he has evidenced the fact that his absence from the literary field has only been due to a former lack of effort in this direction.

SHOW CHORUS