CRIMSON TEAM SHOWS RAGGED FOOTBALL.

Loss of Veteran Quarterback

Badly Felt—Slow Against

Open Offence.

On Saturday afternoon, in the Stadium, the Harvard University eleventh took the field against the Holy Cross for the first time in seven years. The team that allowed Yale to score five touchdowns in the week before lost the game through her line for but one, and put up a remarkable exhibition of the new open game before the first big football crowd of the season. The field was very slippery and had stopped the Blue to a large extent in their own territory. For several times the men slipped and fell for a loss of many yards. Harvard underwent a very expensive lesson in the new football for Dick Wigglesworth, the veteran University quarter, suffered a broken ankle which will keep him out of the game for the rest of the year.

The interference of the backfield was much better than a week ago, and the forwards went into the game harder. The team seemed at a loss when Holy Cross tried forward passes, and Wendell showed excellent form in running forty yards through a broken field for a touchdown. This work brought the crowds to their feet, the better to watch his perfect dodging.

In comparison to the work of Yale against the same team on the preceding Saturday, John Harvard looks rather weak, for with a dry field there would have been a very different story. There were flashes of speed, of clever playing and of real old-fashioned football, but they were almost obscured by the fumbling and frequent fouling on both sides. The Crimson showed as an offensive team to good advantage, but on the defence a line plunge was about the only thing that made the crowds boot.

Williams lost the game to Spring-.

field Training School by a lucky score after a sixty-five yard run in the mud and will show the men of Harvard a few things about football on Saturday. Unless they can learn a lot from their coaches in the meantime, Williams is looking for blood this year, and Crimson is just about the right color. The loss of Wigglesworth at the time when Gardiner is also out of the game will be keenly felt by Harvard, for it means that all of the work will have to be done by Potter. Williams went through the game with the Training School in fine shape, and will have a fine team to send on to the gridiron in the Stadium.

MINING SOCIETY

MEETS TONIGHT.

This evening the Miners gather for their initial meeting of the year in the Union at 7.45. There is to be an interesting program of music and talks, rendered by the members of the society and the Faculty.

In particular, the meeting is to draw together the new men in the course and the old ones, and Professor Rich-ardson will be there to help things with one of his interesting talks. He will talk about Jamaica Pond in an une technical manner, illustrating the text with lantern slides.

The being the first and best opportunity offered to gather all the men in the course there should be a good attendance, and undoubtedly there will be. Refreshments will be served to all present without charge, and good cheer will be rife.
