COMMUNICATION.

Unless something unexpected occurs, there will be no further boogie-woogie class meetings before Field Day. For this reason it devolves upon every 1919 man to feel his responsibility and try to get up the various class affairs which are coming about.

One departure from past customs was made by 1914 by doing away with the Freshman dinner having. Another innovation is to be tried by 1914 which, if successful, will very likely become an established custom at Tech. The "elections" dinner is to be held at six o'clock on Field Day this year. So far the men have turned out in a fine shape. What is needed now is not so much stars as medium weight men to fill up the team. For the efficiency of the team it is urgent that men who intend to try for the team turn out now. There is no delay in coming out now and prove disposition or ability. The team is just as strong on Nov. 3rd. Nothing further will be said about coming out for practice. Every Sophomore knows that this is the last Field Day, and if he has the right spirit he will try for team, without any coaxing, and do it immediately.

The special effort made at the close of last year to raise the finances of the class into excellent shape. The easiest and best way to get the men to send in with the annual election ballots. To put the class on the good financial footing desired, a good big vote will help materially.

Field Day, this year, must be a clean sweep of football, relay and tug-of-war for 1914. So far the men have turned out in fine shape. What is needed now is not so much stars as medium weight men to fill up the team. For the efficiency of the team it is urgent that men who intend to try for the team turn out now. There is no delay in coming out now and prove disposition or ability. The team is just as strong on Nov. 3rd. Nothing further will be said about coming out for practice. To command the action of the Class of 1914 in their decision recently to hold their annual election last before Field Day, with their dinner and announcement of elections on Field Day Night, adjoining later in the theatre. This will give the officers of the Freshman year a chance to reap the results of their efforts in the preparation for Field Day. In previous years the officers of the first year team and those who have the hard work necessary for the success of the Field Day events, while the newly elected officers get all the glory coincident with the results of their efforts in the theatre. This will give the officers their proper credit. Every Sophomore knows that this is the last Field Day, and if he has the right spirit he will try for team, without any coaxing, and do it immediately.

The inspiration of a training table for the Cross-Country team is a fact in the right direction, and we hope that the men will benefit thereby and keep in the best possible training. We understand that the team will have only a certain proportion of their meals served there daily. This will probably do a certain amount of good, but why not get the best possible efficiency by requiring the men to take all their meals at the training table? This would not be a very great hardship, and at the same time the men would get a base to work from. Only a few meals at the training table is to be the rule.
