Urgent Appeals Made to the Men by Heads of All the Teams.

The Class of 1913 held a mass meeting in Hunting Hall yesterday at 1 o'clock. The meeting was not as largely attended as it should have been, but many freshmen and juniors were present. Prof. B. R. Green, the captain of the junior football team, was first speaker. He declared that many of the men who were present at the meeting that seniors had withdrawn or had failed to show for practice. He said that the seniors had a fair team and were working extra hard while the freshmen had an excellent team but were not working with the proper spirit.

Coast Bonnie was the man to speak. He said that he felt absolutely positively that if the men came out for practice during the next two nights that the team would have every chance of being successful.

Peck the treasurer of 1913 explained the origin of Field Day. It takes the place of the Technic which was abolished on account of its boisterousness. Field Day will save twice the money. If he is not fast enough for track he can try football and if he is too slow for track he can try tug-of-war. He said that not enough importance had been placed upon the tug-of-war. He showed how two years ago it was which decided the day. The Class of 1911 was the only class that was defeated at both of their Field Days, and the Class of 1913 won out in every way that stood together, therefore it is the 1917 men's duty to win at both Field Days as the Class of 1913 did. In order to establish the alliance between the two tug-of-war teams, in which men can earn the permission to smoke class pipes on all occasions and at all places. He said that the instructors had more admiration for the men who took part in the tug-of-war than for the gridiron football. He said that the Class of 1913 was the only class that was defeated by the Field Day team, and has placed in the recent two mile relay race. The results of this investigation will be embodied in a report on the mass catalog and statements as well as upon the investigation.

The object of this investigation was first thought to be for the purpose of increasing our "degree mills," but the real reason for this move is a request from the Association of American Universities to the effect that the Class of 1915 man's need of the tie is a 90 percent requirement of a character.
