FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Full Squad Present at Final Signal Practice.

In a fine scrimmage the Freshman football team lined up for the last time before Field Day and presented a man in the best of condition. The signal work was preceded by some dropping back from the field, and then followed by one big final scrimmage against the scratch of the underclassmen.

The ends, Howlett and Morisson, were in on every play, and showed a lot of speed. The centre of the line was charged hard and low, and Moore and Crowell, the guards, with Brown, the centre, were digging big holes in the scrubs. The tackles, Lee and Moore, were fast and rangy, with a fine sense of where the ball was and ought to be. Brown, the second centre, also showed up strong. He is a good man in the man game, who is running the scrubs. McWhirter and Hawpe are getting in some good line blocking and clever work in picking out holes. Lee's punting continues to be first-class; and his good goal will help the team out of more than one hole.

The first team started the ball and were able to get away with gains in almost every play. When the subs had the ball they were able to step practically all of the plays that were going will be started as soon as the season demands and as its room is available. Coach Kanaly will send a well-balanced team against Harvard Poly and then drop off and forget all about shows in the evening, a man on the occasions.

FIELD DAY IS COMING.

Seats for Field Day and "Tech Night" Selling Fast.

After all is said and done, and no matter which class proves itself to be the other's conqueror, Tech men are going to have a good, long, live holiday on Friday. They are going to see one of the best and hardest fought of Field days and in the evening they are going to see the best show in town, "The Three Romeos," at the Colonial.

The seats for the Field were more than three-power sold at noon yesterday, according to Max Waterman, the Varsity track manager who has general oversight of the arrangements at the Field. And as for the show, the evening of Thursday, the staff of THE TECH heard the man in the box office say the other day: "No, I can't say sorry but these seats are all gone. You see the Technology boys are coming down here Friday night."
