CIVIL ENGINEERS
VISIT LARGE FACTORY
C. L. Berger & Sons' Instrument Factory Inspected During Trip

The postponed trip of the Civil Engineering Society to the factory of C. L. Berger & Sons took place recently.

The men went in two parties; the first, composed mainly of students and leaving right after lunch; the second, composed of juniors and sophomores, leaving about 3 o'clock.

Upon arrival at the factory each party was met by a member of the firm, who personally conducted the tours through the whole establishment, from machine shop to "Japan room." Each process in the manufacture of high-grade surveying and instrument-making instruments has been gone over and described, and an opportunity given for everyone to have his questions answered by an expert in the business.

Among the interesting machines shown were apparatus for engraving the numbers on the various circles and plates (which works on the principle of the pantograph) and for dividing circles into subdivided circles of the instra-line variety, each of these engines was made by a famous London manufacturer, one of which cost about $9,000, and is used only for dividing compass circles.

Where great accuracy is necessary the more modern machines, one of which cost about $10,000, is used. It takes this machine from three to four hours to complete the operation of one circle into twenty-minute spaces.

The firm was well worth attending, and the firm did all in its power to give the members of the society a more enjoyable afternoon than in any other afternoon since as instructive afternoon and also as instructive afternoon.

VARIETY RELAY TEAMS.
Majority of Men of Last Year's Relay Teams Available for Next Year's Teams

It is nearly time for candidates for the Variety relay teams to report. The report looks good for crack teams this year, for many of last year's team are back this year.

Thompson has been taking regular track work twice a week, with the Hare and Hounds team, and for the rest of the bunch to join in and get fit for the meet.

For Mining Research Work.

Ranney (manager) and Hobbs in charge.

Mr. Baker showed slides of wagons used by cotton manufacturers, department stores, newspapers, express companies, railroads, banks, hospitals and the police.

Besides Mr. Baker's talk there were several city songs, and the meeting adjourned for refreshments.

M. B. Raker GIVES INTERESTING TALK
Excellent Description Given of Uses of Electric Vehicles.

Last evening the Electrical Society members were much entertained by the talk given by Mr. Dav Baker, the New England manager of the Electric Vehicle Company.

Mr. Baker not only had a great many interesting things to say about electric wagons and trucks, but also had two actual models of these vehicles which he brought with him. He also showed a film made by a famous London manufacturer, which illustrated the convenience and rapidity with which electric vehicles can be delivered, and which showed other films made by another firm that are most economical.

The trip was well worth the time, and the firm did all in its power to give the members of the society a more attractive afternoon than it is possible to give on any other afternoon since as instructive afternoon and also as instructive afternoon.
