CHINESE ENTERTAIN.

The Tech, Boston, Mass., November 20, 1911

He will be on hand to take part in the next Chinese entertainment, which will probably come off next February.

T. P. Hsi also won a great deal of applause by studies of Mr. Hsi first experience in this country. When Mr. Hsi first came to this country it was in summer time, and he was wearing high shoes. Desiring a pair of low ones, he and his friend went to a shoe store in New York city. Mr. Hsi could not find a pair to fit him, and the salesman, taking advantage of the ignorance of American fashions, asked him a pair of women's shoes with high heels. Broadway resulted in a great deal of amusement to passers-by, and it was not until several days later that Mr. Hsi found out the cause of the amusement. Mr. Hsi told a number of other amusing incidents, including some of the sensations which Americans experience when travelling through China. He spoke of some of his first experiences at a military preparatory school in this country, his experiences in hotels and cafes and various other interesting and amusing episodes.

Slides of Chinese scenery and maps explaining the situation in China were next shown, including pictures of the temples, bridges and the interior and exterior of the imperial palace. Chinese songs were sung by Mr. Z. Y. Chow, and Mr. P. T. Teh held the close attention of the audience with Chinese music, which was sung and played before the modern music was introduced into China.

The magic stunts and card tricks of Mr. S. C. Li, the Chinese shuttle-cock game was also very interesting.

Chinese refreshments were served after the entertainment, and the crowd broke up at a late hour. The entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, and everyone was of the opinion that it was the finest entertainment ever given in the Institute. In fact, it was so highly successful that the Chinese night in February is anxiously awaited by all.

HARVARD BEATS GREEN.

Dartmouth threw her utmost strength on the Harvard line and it never wavered; she used every thing possible in the line of plays in the last few minutes of play without avail, and yet it seemed to Mr. Hsi that the turn of the luck toward her team would give them the game and a well-deserved victory. She gave poor protection to her kickers but was down the field very much faster under the ball. Her ends, Captain Daley and Dana, gave a fine exhibition of what to do and how to do it. She showed a greater ability if it were possible, to follow the ball, and lost the game only because of the fact that in the defence, which is so absolutely necessary under the present rules, Harvard had a shade the better and also what proved to be very important also, Harvard showed more adaptability, made readiness to take advantage of the opportunities that were presented.
