THE TECH, BOSTON, MASS., DECEMBER 16, 1911

CIVIL SMOKER WITH TALK ON SUM. SCHOOL

Professors and Grads to Show Many Advantages From Old Ideals.

A veritable galaxy of speakers has been promised for the first big smoker of the year, to be held next Tuesday evening, in the Union, by the Civil Engineering Society, on which occasion the New Engineering Summer School at East Machias, Maine, will be the subject under discussion. Professor Charles M. Spofford, head of Course I, Dean Alfred E. Burton and Professor A. G. Robbins, who has been more intimately connected with past summer schools than any other member of the department, will be the Faculty members to address the meeting.

They have a number of excellent slides of the location and the construction work on the camp, and will give the men who are to christen the project next summer many new ideas of the work.

The society is not going to let the professors do all the talking by any means, and four prominent graduates who have been interested in the new camp at East Machias in one way or another will be on hand to give their views of this innovation in the department. These are Leonard Metcalf, '92, of the firm of Metcalf & Eddy, Consulting Engineers; Frederick, H. Pay, '92, Deputy Commissioner of Public Works in Boston; and Albert Deme, '92, former president of the Alumni Association, all of whom were on the committee which brought the dream of a Technological Civil Engineering Summer Camp into a reality, and Walter H. Kilham, '92, of Kilham & Hopkins, the architects who designed the camp buildings.

The festivities will start at 8 o'clock in the social room of the Union, and it is expected by the committee that there will be plenty to eat in the line of refreshments.

WINTER CONCERT. (Continued from Page 1.)

get their breath. After intermission dancing was resumed until about two, when the party broke up.

The matrons were Mrs. Richard C. Macomber, Mrs. Aline L. Merrill, Mrs. Henry P. Maclaurin, Mrs. Alfred E. Burton, and Miss Varughese Humphreys.

The program follows:

I. Magic Flute, Mozart.
2. The Scent of the Cannibal, Scott.
3. Pink Lady Waltzes, Carroll and O'Keefe.
5. Sweet Corn, West.
8. Vocal Quartette.
9. (a) Pantomime, Composed.
(b) Cleopatra Dance, Composed.
(c) Butterfly Waltz, Andreeff.
10. Winter Song, Bullard, '87.
12. Evenings Chimes, Boswell and O'Keefe.
15. Stein Scena, Bullard, '87, Glee and Mandolin Clubs.

THE TECH

HONORARY SCHOLASTIC FRATERNITY BALLOT.

Mark X

Are you in favor of the establishment of an honorary scholastic fraternity at the Institute?

YES

NO

Ballots are due at the Lower Office of THE TECH before 1 P. M., December 16, addressed to the Ballot Editor.