John Rice Bell Dead.

Prominent 1911 Man Victim of Fatal Bite by N. J. Dog.

Yesterday evening the Tech received word of the death in a Perth Amboy, New Jersey, hospital of John Rice Bell, a popular and well-known graduate of the Institute. Course XIV, he was Class of 1911. Bell was bitten by a dog while playing with his dog on the track, and died in the hospital.

Mr. Bell will be mourned as many of the men are in the Institute, for the former slender, high-sounding was very much a part of the institute. He was a member of the Tech Club, the A.A.T.H. Club, and the Engineering Club.

The funeral will be held in the high school on the afternoon of the 23rd.

THE TECHNIQUE MAKES ITS ANNUAL HISTORY CALL.

Stories of Past Class Events Must Be In the Hands of the Editor On Jan. 1.

Of all the various ways of earning individual distinction at the Institute, probably all will agree that the most spectacular is that taken by the athlete in winning his "F" by superior skill on the track, but a great many of the fellows will say that even this is more a matter of brains than of legs. And speaking of earning distinction through one's brain brings us to the point.

Technique hereby issues the last call for Class Histories. A Technique Class History is not the product of a professor's smug reasoning brain with literary capabilities, but the conclusions of an overworked scientific man's gray matter, which are the direct result of the little breathing spell which we call a Christmas recess.

One of the advantages of being the author of your Class History is the fact that you have a chance to knock any of the enemies that you may have made, but more than that you can boost your friends in a way that can never be forgotten. "Technique is immortal." Wouldn't you like to be able to pick up a Technique in some far off day and tell the little son of the way "Jones" ranked in English 234 in the good old days when you were at Tech?

Another advantage is that you are not to be overlooked in that nice copy of a de luxe book on the fifteenth day of April next without the expenditure of any cold silver. If you are an under-classman, you will have a good hand in an editorship on your book.

To be sensible (if possible), "Any undergraduate is eligible to write the history of his, or another class. The aim is to get some ideas that are entirely new, something that has never appeared in the year book before, and if possible in any college annual. The histories should be in on the first day of the new year, January 1, 1912, none which come in after that date will be considered. If the men who are expecting convulsions will talk to the History Editor he will try to explain to them the best methods of attack."

John Rice Bell Dead.

Prominent 1911 Man Victim of Fatal Bite by N. J. Dog.

Yesterday evening the Tech received word of the death in a Perth Amboy, New Jersey, hospital of John Rice Bell, a popular and well-known graduate of the Institute. Course XIV, he was Class of 1911. Bell was bitten by a dog while playing with his dog on the track, and died in the hospital.

Mr. Bell will be mourned as many of the men are in the Institute, for the former slender, high-sounding was very much a part of the institute. He was a member of the Tech Club, the A.A.T.H. Club, and the Engineering Club.

The funeral will be held in the high school on the afternoon of the 23rd.

THE TECHNIQUE MAKES ITS ANNUAL HISTORY CALL.

Stories of Past Class Events Must Be In the Hands of the Editor On Jan. 1.

Of all the various ways of earning individual distinction at the Institute, probably all will agree that the most spectacular is that taken by the athlete in winning his "F" by superior skill on the track, but a great many of the fellows will say that even this is more a matter of brains than of legs. And speaking of earning distinction through one's brain brings us to the point.

Technique hereby issues the last call for Class Histories. A Technique Class History is not the product of a professor's smug reasoning brain with literary capabilities, but the conclusions of an overworked scientific man's gray matter, which are the direct result of the little breathing spell which we call a Christmas recess.

One of the advantages of being the author of your Class History is the fact that you have a chance to knock any of the enemies that you may have made, but more than that you can boost your friends in a way that can never be forgotten. "Technique is immortal." Wouldn't you like to be able to pick up a Technique in some far off day and tell the little son of the way "Jones" ranked in English 234 in the good old days when you were at Tech?

Another advantage is that you are not to be overlooked in that nice copy of a de luxe book on the fifteenth day of April next without the expenditure of any cold silver. If you are an under-classman, you will have a good hand in an editorship on your book.

To be sensible (if possible), "Any undergraduate is eligible to write the history of his, or another class. The aim is to get some ideas that are entirely new, something that has never appeared in the year book before, and if possible in any college annual. The histories should be in on the first day of the new year, January 1, 1912, none which come in after that date will be considered. If the men who are expecting convulsions will talk to the History Editor he will try to explain to them the best methods of attack."

John Rice Bell Dead.

Prominent 1911 Man Victim of Fatal Bite by N. J. Dog.

Yesterday evening the Tech received word of the death in a Perth Amboy, New Jersey, hospital of John Rice Bell, a popular and well-known graduate of the Institute. Course XIV, he was Class of 1911. Bell was bitten by a dog while playing with his dog on the track, and died in the hospital.

Mr. Bell will be mourned as many of the men are in the Institute, for the former slender, high-sounding was very much a part of the institute. He was a member of the Tech Club, the A.A.T.H. Club, and the Engineering Club.

The funeral will be held in the high school on the afternoon of the 23rd.