FURTHER PLANS MADE FOR JUNIOR PROM

Pledge Books Distributed Among Several Members of Each Class.

Pledge books for the Junior Prom are now out and everyone should see that his name is recorded right away, as the number of tickets is limited. The following men will have the books, and as there are representatives from each class a man cannot have the excuse that he doesn't know who to give his name to: Peck, Holmes, Ramsey, Nichols, Capen, Wee, Byrland, Bethan, S. W. solder, Germain, Franselmi, Russell, Gage, Thompson, Corbell, Fallon, Swanson, Nason, 1912, White, Goethert, 1914; Kibbey, 1912; Lewis, Waterlove, 1912. There also will be a man in the Union with a book every room, so that all will have a good opportunity to sign. All men who are partial to any suggestion made to be played at the Prom are requested to hand their comments in at the Cafe for R. R. Night, before Wednesday, February 9th, 2 P. M. The request is also made that more men come out for the poster competition. This is a good chance to show your talent in the artistic line.

Two dollars is the charge for chap-ervan, and these tickets will be given out at the same time as the other orders, a couple days before the Prom.

T. C. A. TALK.

There is not a man more than the man across the world.

He said he believed that no great social or political question was ever finally settled by force. For example, the dissension between the States did not end with the surrender of Lee at Appomattox, but only when both sides realized in the "Light" of a foreign war that after all they belonged together. Industrial disputes never will be concluded by the victory of either faction, but must be settled by the light of reason.

But without "Love of Humanity" a man is to be compared to a warship without "the man behind the gun." The contribution of love is the contribution of large interest in the com-munity. If one does not care he ought to leave at least to realize that there are such problems as furnishing a city's work-people with clear and sanitary homes. Summarizing, one has common duties, common responsibilities, reasonable services to do with his neighbors.

FOOTBALL RULES.

Committee Now in Session—May Return to Old Game.

The committee on football rules is now in session at the Hotel Astor in New York and will consider many of the suggestions made from within as well as from without its own ranks for changes in the rules. These principals have to do with making it less difficult to score, rather than to fur-ther eliminate injuries, as most of the members feel that the game is now almost as safe as it is possible to make it.

There are two factions in the committee, one of which feels that foot-ball has reached its highest point and are endeavoring to retain the rules as they are for at least another year, ev-ening in a few earlier instances. The other group is made up of those who are eager to make some modification in the forward pass, and return to the old game by either, reducing the number of yards to gain or increasing the number of downs. It is very difficult to say what the outcome will be for both divisions of the committee are very anxious to carry out their plans. The result will be awaited with much interest all over the country.
