These are pleasing and fortunate news coming at a time when the students have achieved things unique. The forms will be closed at the end of the week and no copy can be taken at that time, with the single exception of the Show. This of necessity is still in need of some men in the chorus and costumes.

The men have not responded to the call for signatures as well as they should up to the present time. This is something that should be cared for at once if the fellows wish to have copies of the book on the eighteenth of next April. As everyone knows, the edition is limited and only such men as sign up with the members of the board will be able to get the books.

At the time of the grand march there will be a novel feature introduced which will be something of a nature concerning M. I. T. During the dance small British and American influences will be evident. There will be eighteen numbers on the dance card, which will give everybody a good time from 7:45 until midnight. In order that everyone may have an equal opportunity to engage dances on the right of the occasion, the committee will not publish the dance order. The supper dance will present an unusual and spectacular demonstration significant of L'entente Cordiale existing between England and America. The affair promises to be a grand success. There is still opportunity to sign up for the occasion with any of the others.

Have you picked the winners at the Providence meet yet?

"We are happy, but our yell so far--they--" You know the rest, but it did sound fine at the Arena Monday night.

Earle Owington is the present holder of the 'Stute record for high hurdles. That sounds rather better than merely saying that he won his last post and that a few years ago.

In regard to the value of the work we can say that its main point lies in the maintenance of the educational affairs and Institute men, both present and past, who have achieved things worth doing. Quite as a matter of fact (and we quote one of the instructing staff), the final value of a college is in the broadening influence of meeting men. It will be seconded that this is not a college. True, in a strict sense, but it is a place for higher education and a man having a degree from the Institute will not necessarily be an unqualified success. We believe that THE TECH has a value in the educational school, and no hope that some others will take this view. The Editors will meet any candidates that desire to speak about the work at 4:30 Monday afternoon.
