ACTIVE PREPARATION FOR SPRING CONCERT

New Music Chosen and Every Effort Being Made for a Fine Concert.

The Musical Club has commenced active preparation for their annual Spring concert, which is usually held during the latter part of Junior Week. The management intends that this concert shall surpass the highly successful one which was held in December, and which was enjoyed by a crowd which filled the hall to overflowing. To this end they have secured all the music, including a medley of popular songs arranged exclusively for the occasion by Coach Landside.

Between now and the first of April several practices are being held in the towns and cities. These practice concerts serve to make the members appear in public, show up these opportunities to have some mighty good times.

TECH EQUIPES GOOD.

Guard House Designs Will Be Sent to New York Today.

The eight problems executed by the students compete with the competition for the Behrens Arts Paris prize which were sent during the week New York architects. The eight hundred other designs, they will be judged for the selection of the five contestant in the second competition. The problem of the first competition, twelve hours in length, was to design a “Guard House to be erected on the bank of a reservoir.” The solution of it is of the architectural department, the results were fairly creditable.

SOPH GAME TONIGHT.

The Soph basketball team have a hard game against Harvard tonight, when they meet the fast North Abington Y. M. C. A. at the Y. M. C. A. Gym. The Sophs have won all of their games so far this season, but have not as yet met such a hard opponent. The Y. M. C. A. man nearly all of their games, and the Sophs will have to hustle in order to win.

The Sophs will line up as follows: Trerell and Comber, forwards; M. C. A. five at the Y. M. C. A. Gym; Irwin, center. There are some valuable men in the class, and if they can work together the Sophs will make a good showing this season. The prospects for the second team men are not as good as those for the first team. Some of the second team men are not up to par, and the outcome of the game will depend on how well the Sophs can play.

VALUE OF PRINCETON MEN.

“What is a Princeton man worth when a man asks?” asked the Princeton University at the Princeton Institute of Technology. The question was made by Dr. Reisner of the Art Museum.

The average man could not command more than that amount. Why? Because he has not been trained in business, law, or medicine, but rather in engineering, and that sad confession to fame. Some say if Be, if it is not criticized for it, but we can justify it. It is our endeavor to create a high potential in mental possibility rather than actual attainment.”

Sorry, but we can’t always win re-

ARCHITECTS HEAR VIEWS OF ENGINEER

Mr. Beekman Tells Them How to Make Designs That Are Practicable.

Last night, in 42 Pierce, Mr. Beekman spoke before the Architectural Engineering regarding the relations between, engineers and architects. The talk was attended by a large number of Course IV, Option men. Mr. Beekman commenced by outlining the course to be pursued by building engineers in designing a building. First is the preliminary design, the object of which is to give the prospective builder information as to the approximate estimate of cost of building. This preliminary designing is also useful for those who intend to reconstruct buildings, in that it gives them an idea of the practicability of their plans. The approximating must be accurate, according to Mr. Beekman, for from these the owner must decide whether it is practicable to build.

Then the engineer sets out to make complete designs. In this work he must keep continually in touch with the architect. Among the points which must be given consideration are exact estimation, details of building, framing plans, specifications for steel (Continued on Page 2).

ANGLO-AMERICAN.

Foreign Representation—No Effort Has Been Spared.

Tonight will probably occur one of the most brilliant affairs that has been given by any institution, the Anglo-American dance of the Cosmos Club.

The Hotel Tullibrew has been selected for the function and so efficient has been spared to make every appointment complete. The function will be formal and the effort to make every effort to give the foreign representation, its success in almost certain.

The following men will act as ushers: L. H. Lehman, C. R. Carver, D. G. Kent, B. H. McRae and E. W. Hurst.

The committee in charge distinctly understand that no flowers will be allowed on the floor.

CREW MEN AT WORK.

Regular Practice Not Yet Began—Good Chance for Candidates.

Although the crew candidates have not yet called out the rowing crew, the Gym is now in use every afternoon, and many of the men are putting in preliminary work. At the same time, conference meetings are being held to say concerning the plans of the crew. However, within a week after he has been Howard, the Alumni who did so much for the crew last year, and finds how the Alumni feel towards this form of sport, he will be able to make plans for the season.

There is a good chance for candidates to make the boat as there are only three of last year's men back. These fellows who feel as if they would like this sport can start in now and make good leaders for the team to be in form when practice begins in earnest.

SOPH BASEBALL SEASON BEGINS

Battery Candidates for 1914 Team Called Out—Practice for Outfielders Also.

Very soon the outdoor athletic season will begin and the Sophomore manager of the baseball team has issued a call for candidates for the battery. The men interested are to report to the Gym Thursday, February 28, at their convenience. At the same time candidates for the outfield are advised to begin practice now in order to have it set in order before the first week of practice.

Manager Gardner has been spared to give his team a fine start, for the call for candidates is the first step that would do away with the need of the coach to hustle in order to win. The team compares favorably with the team of last year and finds how the Alumni fee: Vol. XXXI. No. 107. Boston, Mass., Saturday, February 14, 1912. Price Two Cents.

PHOTOGRAPHIC DELAY

 Absolutely Necessary That All Histories and Photos Be in March 1.

There are still a great many Seniors who have not returned their proofs to the photographer. Seniors, kindly attend to this matter at once, as it is absolutely essential that all the pictures be sent to the printer before the end of the month. Also leave your history blanks which are still outstanding to the printer.

The Senior class has cooperated very well so far in the publication of this annual, and it is to be hoped that the few men who have not signed their intentions of getting a book will attend to the matter at an early date, in order that the committee may tell the exact number to order in time.

The Grazing of the spring pastures, the book will be in edition de luxe, bound in leather, with an original cover design, and will contain as in the past, a complete history and picture of every man in the class.

A great many have found it convenient to pay their first payment of three dollars on the book at this time, in order to protect the financial pressure which will come next June. Books are in the hands of the committee and orders, and payments can be made at any time.

SECOND TEAM PLAYS.

The second team will close their season tonight with a game with Dartmouth Freshmen. The prospects for the second team’s winning are bright, for the Dartmouth team have not shown up very well this year, having been beaten by Andover by a decisive spread. Dartmouth has never been beaten by the Tech Sophomores, and the second team compares favorably with the Sophomore team.

Some of the second team men may be seen playing on the whole of the regular team will be in contest tonight: Dutton and Reeds, forwards; Stampson, center; Copen and Metcalf, backs.

Are you going to the Athletic Dinner?

Some people have lots of honor! Did you ever notice the way they drop out when you are depending on them?
