SOCIAL SERVICE

DINNER TONIGHT

In Union Upstairs at 6:30 P. M.
—President Macaulay will be a Speaker.

Tonight the Christian Association will have a dinner in the Union to give an opportunity to every one in the Institute interested in Social Service to come and hear what is being done in this work here in Boston, partly by men in Tech who are giving a few hours a week to some kind of social work.

Dinner will be served in the Union at half past six, but the speech will not start until after half past seven, and anyone who cannot come in to the dinner itself, but is interested, or thinks he might be interested, if he comes in then. There are to be quite a number of short talks, not only from men whose work is outside the Institute, but also five undergraduates will talk about their work. President Macaulay will be the principal speaker of the evening, and the Association thinks that there should be a large enough number of followers there to hear him. When President North of Boston University spoke there were four hundred Tech men in the Union to hear him, and though this is at a less convenient time the subject is one that is demanding more attention every day, and that every man interested in his city and country must help in.

COMMUNICATION.

(From the Correspondence from all parts of the Institute in connection with the compilation of the Senior Civils, and to one, "Hugo" Raymond, in particular, who has been fit to take the position of football manager of a bunch, whose only claim to the elements of baseball is their winning record of past performances, and a bunch that has been led to believe that such kiddish chatter can frighten a game crowd of baseball enthusiasts, whose minds almost alone prevent them from refraining to mention their well-known skill, and whose condition is in themselves so well founded that we should value our beautiful opportunity, and hope that by playing three games Dame Fortune will be so kind as to give them one victory. We hereby specifically challenge the Civilies of the Senior Class to run a contest to be played at the Tech Field on the morning of April 17, the stakes to be not an empty box, but a valuable prize for the best-built P. B., direct from the brewery.

Any further details in regard to the contest and the game can be made by consulting V. W. Allen, who has been honored by being given the position of manager so worthy a crowd of baseball players as are found in the Mechanical Brothers baseball squad.

Yours truly,
Senior Mechanicals.

SCHOLARSHIP FUND

The adoption of the "single tax at certain of the leading colleges in the country has been referred to the consideration of the advisability of trying the system out at the Institute. For the benefit of the students who may not know what this plan is we will explain it. At the beginning of the school year fees are being paid, and an extra charge of a certain number of dollars is levied in addition to the income. This pays for all the activities and makes the student a member of all the open college clubs.

Washington University, St. Louis, sent out postal cards to most of the leading colleges in the country asking their opinions as to the value of the scheme. Twenty-nine answers were received, and in each case the writer was working successfully. In twenty-six cases the money was collected by the treasurer of the institution and all outside of the United States was accompanied by postage at the rate of one cent a copy. Subscribers within the Boston Post District and outside of the United States were not accompanied by postage at all.

We take no responsibility for the sentiments and do not agree to print any that may come in, whether they are signed or not.

To the Editor of THE TECH:

In response to the communication of the Senior Civils, and to one, "Hugo" Raymond, in particular, who has been fit to take the position of football manager of a bunch, whose only claim to the elements of baseball is their winning record of past performances, and a bunch that has been led to believe that such kiddish chatter can frighten a game crowd of baseball enthusiasts, whose minds almost alone prevent them from refraining to mention their well-known skill, and whose condition is in themselves so well founded that we should value our beautiful opportunity, and hope that by playing three games Dame Fortune will be so kind as to give them one victory. May be sure nobody else will. Some may be considerably disinclined to hear it, but more will be willing to believe, with Mr. Brush, that, taking things as a whole, a man generally does not know what he needs. That is easy to answer. The trend would keep up a complete record, and the student manager would check off the names of the people to whom he issued the season's tickets.

Such a subject as this may seem irrelevant, especially considering the late hour of the column. But it seemed to us that by discussing the subject at this time we could bring the matter before the students and allow them to judge for themselves the wisdom and advisability of starting a movement at Tech in favor of its adoption.
