FATHER CUSICK TALKS BEFORE CATHOLICS
Relation of Church and Science Discussed at Meeting—Forty Attend.

At a meeting of the Catholic Club held in the Union last night, Father Cusick, S. J., spoke to the forty men present on "Religion and Science." Father Cusick is Professor of Chemistry and Geology at Boston College. In his talk he defined religion as the linking of God and man, and science as organized knowledge. He said that many of the millions of people who attend church would come to the Catholic Church if they could be made to understand that the teaching of the church does not conflict with science. That this misunderstanding is widely spread was brought home to him when a scientist told him that certain chemicals found in the body of a patient had been unknown before the patient died.

Preparations for Rush Complete—Only a Few Books Left.

Technique, 1925, has left the printer's hands and is now at the bindery, ready to come in, and at present only 50 regular and 50 de luxe copies of the magazine remain to be distributed. There is a table in the Union every day for exchanging slip and signing up, and all men who wish to sign up must do it here. The first round of the tourney will take place at the Oval and the first copy will be given out at 12:30 o'clock. The checks which are given in exchange for the books are good for books and rush tickets.

TITANIUM DISCOVERY.

The first pure titanium was recently obtained by Dr. F. Hettner of the Institute. Previous attempts to isolate this metal resulted in productions of only about 36 per cent. pure. The methods followed in the recent experiments consisted in combining titanium tetrachloride with pure sodium at a temperature of 2400 degrees, which was sufficient to withstand an internal pressure of 80,000 pounds. The reaction inside the bomb heated slip and igniting stagnations.
