CHEMICAL SOCIETY
MEETING TOMORROW

Changes in Constitution to Be Discussed at Afternoon Meeting.

Tomorrow afternoon the Chemical Society will hold a business meeting in 23 Walker. at 1 o'clock. The society has had no business meeting as yet this year, and so there is much to be considered. There are also several important changes in the constitution to be discussed, especially in regard to whether or not the officers shall be changed for that year.

The Program Committee have been arranging for speakers for January, and it is possible that a definite announcement can be made as to the speakers' plans for this month.

As this meeting comes directly after Laboratory it will be easy for the members to attend. It is expected that making the meeting very long on account of the lateness of the hour.

CATHOLIC CLUB.

Next Wednesday the Catholic Club will hold its first meeting of the new year. The officers of the club have long planned to have a series of talks on evolution as it is viewed by Catholics, and they have secured, with the assistance of Father Rehling, the first speaker for the meeting Wednesday.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Two hundred and fifty candidates were reported at the first meeting of the musical club of the University of Pennsylvania.

The first plutocrat to be initiated into Phi Beta Kappa is Webb Vanderbilt. He is said to be the first millionaire's son at Yale to be elected to this national scholarship fraternity.

The freshmen at Reserve committed an unpardonable sin last week by raising their flag to the top of the campus flag pole. The halberds were cut out, and it required the services of a steel-jack to remove the offending "rag.

The "AD" rustlers and student salesmen of the University of Utah are organizing a salesmanship and advertising club for the purpose of studying their line of work, and secondly, for the purpose of aid in undergraduate activities.

Michell Dinco, a Greek graduate from a college in Constantinople, has entered the University of Pennsylvania. He is now playing on the Freshman football team of that institution. In Greece, he was a famous wrestler; he puts the shot forty-four feet. In 1908, he took second place for the javelin throw at the Olympic games.

The newest fashion of the eastern college world is the formation of a "riding kibb," made up of Columbia University students. Nearly fifty men reported for the "first practice."

A new department in home economics has been offered at the University of Wisconsin. One hundred and sixty students have registered in the course in dietetics and household art.
