There seems to be a feeling among some of the student activities cooperating the Finance Commission in par-icular and Institute affairs in general, which is far from a good one.

The Finance Commission has in the past established the names of several events which have not been reported regularly, many of them twice and three times during the present term, and in one case no report was made at all. At the last meeting, the other treasurer had collected a very small percentage of the dues, although his activity is one in which it is especially easy to see all of the men; and was at the same time carrying on his books a bill for the insert in Technique, 1913. Perhaps the trouble is especially easy to see all of the

reason is that the students are not realizing that they are not only preparing themselves for a strong reprisition, but are also giving a thrift in the institute's bookkeeping. We recommend that all of the bookkeepers be asked to prepare a list of all of the men who have not paid their dues for the past term, and that such a list be sent to the student body for their record.

YALE GAME POSTPONED.

The hockey game with Yale, which was to have been played tomorrow at New Haven, has been postponed. The teams were ready to start when a telegram was received saying that the game had been postponed on account of lack of ice. No date has been set for the game to be played, but the manager hopes to be able to arrange for another game before the end of the season.
