FINANCE COMMITTEE TO AUDIT ALL BOOKS

All Treasurers' Accounts to Be Examined Twice During This Term

The Finance Committee held its regular meeting in the Union last night, with about fourteen members present. After the usual business, the motion was made, and seconded by Haeckel, that the Freshman Class and the Cosmopolitan Club, and that in so far as an audit was practicable, the books were all correct. It was moved and passed that in both of the books of all the activities be taken immediately, and that all the society reports be made. The amendment was rejected, and the appointment—resigned or got busy. Don't you think?

Sincerely yours.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of THE TECH:

Being familiar with the accomplishments of the Union Committee, the Institute Committee recently elected a new set of officers to care for our Union. The committee took the right measures to correct the problems, but may not. Frankly, I think not.

Certain moneys are annually expended on magazines for the Union, and binders have been provided as convenience. There is no place in my mind, and I think likely that the publishing companies are not regularity, but may I inquire what subsequently happens to them? An inspection of the Union Post Office magazine of February, 1913, some of January, some of December, shows many mags of former annuals. I understand it is the duty of the House Committee to care for these. Why are they not doing it?

The news is at various times, a source of much consternation in our eyes that the Orchestra rehearses Tuesdays, the day in and need of repair, there is no better place to put rubbish than on the floor, a soap box holds superior notice in its banner, and is placed on top of the reading desk; the last entry, curiously, is carefully devoted over show postures, the library—what is the use of the nearby cataloguing? It is high time the new committee, made out of hand, the powers that be—and I re- gret to agree with them—was called. I must admit that I do not have the appointment—resigned or got busy. Don't you think?

Sincerely yours.
