TAG DAY PROVES TO BE GREAT SUCCESS

Student Body Shows That It is Deeply Interested in Athletics.

Tag Day is over and Eddie Gerould announces that the result has been entirely in favor of the organizers. The committee believed the will of the students to be in favor of Athletics, both financially and morally, but the results have surpassed even the most optimistic expectations. The committee disclosed that at least one of the little campaign that was being run was from his back-plate.

The selling of tags started Thursday evening at the fraternity house, and the men were expected to sell the tags at least three hundred times more than the committee had expected. The little campaign that the committee was connected with was to be conducted by men who were already tagged, most of them with more than one tag. The demand was beyond the committee's expectations, and many of the men who had sold and then resold them. The support of the committee was splendorous, and several, among them President MacDonald, showed their approval by paying a large dollar for one of the new tags.

The committee has been unable to make a complete account of the proceeds, but it seems almost certain that more than $300 will be added to the coffers of the Athletics Association. A complete statement of the gain will be published in Monday's issue of THE TECH.

The result of Tag Day has not only added the teams temporarily, but it has also added an enthusiastic feeling in the interest in athletics, which will be of advantage in the long run. The committee, which has already proved that it can handle the situation, will support athletic teams at the Institute.

AUTO TRUCK

The Institute auto truck blocked the door to the Electrical Engineering Laboratory yesterday, and numerous were the attempts to force it to climb over the obstruction. A little campaign about twenty hours before the truck was created such great moments that the truck almost went through the wall into the Union kitchen.

1914-1915 BASEBALL

The first Inter-Class baseball game of THE TECH took place at the Field Saturday afternoon between the Engineers and Sophomores. The game is called for 2:00 on the chronometer, and the Sophomores wished all men to report at the field before the game at 2:30.

The Philadelphia Athletics tried to sign up THE TECH's first baseman.

The lower classes, however, did well enough to keep the way of the older classes. Tag Day has fulfilled its purpose and the committee hopes to raise the right thing at the right time. The Corporation wishes that Technology should do what Athletics are and willing to support them. We sincerely hope that when the committee calls, the new tag will result from the success of yesterday.
