Prof. J. K. Taylor and H. W. Tyler Discuss Walker Memorial in New York.

Professor J. K. Taylor and H. W. Tyler of the Institute went on to New York on Thursday to consult with the alumns about the Walker Memorial.

Before leaving Prof. Tyler made a canvass among the students to find out as fully as possible what they thought about the new buildings and their location, and what textbooks and references they would find useful.

The following are the figures obtained. Prof. Tyler states that the majority of the men 31 came by the way of the Harvard Bridge. The figures obtained were all informal and of no great value, but they give some idea of what the students probably have in mind.
