“Keeping a Stiff Front,”

is as good in a man’s character as in his shirt. If his handymen will only keep that shirt front white and stiff he’ll be satisfied. Well, we make a specialty of doing Laundry work as it he’ll be satisfied. Well, we make a specialty of doing Laundry work. For instance, on the white and stiff part of his shirt. If his laundryman will only keep that shirt front white and stiff... To be respectful. The Freshman class at the present time knows more than it will ever know again in its life. He is a big man and does things well; a small man has a limited perspective and never amounts to much. Study men and find out where they are going. Then when you get in charge, give them the responsibility. Don’t think that you have to hold the reins tightly in hand. That is the acme of smallness.

The trained engineer must be honest and truthful. No one has any of the attributes of the Freshman class at the present time.
