DISCUSSION ON NEW TECH CO-OP. SOCIETY
Report on Investigation Made
By Students to Be Submitted
Friday,
All of the men at the Institute who are interested in a more efficient cooperative society than the present one are asked to attend a meeting to be held in the Union at 5 p.m. on Friday of this week. At this time a report on the present M. I. T. Cooperative Society, which has been prepared by T. P. Gurney, A. H. Hammond, K. T. King and H. C. Sampson, will be read.

This report is the result of much study, both of the Institute society and the one at Harvard. It contains many interesting comparisons between the prices of the same articles at Tech and Harvard. One of these is the price of the hair-wood architect's scale which is used in the drawing rooms.

The price of that article is higher at Tech than it is at Harvard, although the article as catalogued allows a discount of almost fifteen per cent.

Professor Pearson, who has arranged for this meeting, would like to see a large number of men present. There has been much criticism of the Cooperative Society in communities which have appeared in "The Tech," as well as from the men at large. He thinks that if the men are interested, as they seem to be, that they have an excellent opportunity to do something toward solving the conditions which have been complained about.

In his opinion, the results which will probably come from this report and from the Committee which has been appointed by the Institute Committee to look into the matter, should add materially in forming a more efficient Cooperative Society.

ABANDON PLAN FOR NAVY SUMMER WORK
Sec. Daniels Decides Against the Employment of Students.

The action of Secretary Daniels of the Navy Department in abandoning the scheme of having college men spend the coming summer working in the navy has been the cause of considerable disappointment among the various Institute men who were intending to take the naval course this offered by the government. These men were to have been admitted to different ships of the Atlantic fleet, and become interested in the work done recently when a naval officer visited the Institute and gave a talk on the proposed summer work. About forty men were planning to spend the vacation in this way, and on account of the change made by the naval department they will have to abandon their plans and make other provisions for summer work.

The Institute men who intended to work in the navy this summer are men from the various engineering courses, and their number does not include many men from the Naval Architectural Course.

At Harvard, apparently, no disappointment in the change of plans felt. President Lovcll made a statement yesterday in the effect that the matter would be dropped, probably to be taken up again next year. Just how many Harvard men were planning to spend the naval work could not be ascertained.
