CATHOLIC CLUB GIVES DINNER TO FRESHMEN

Dean Burton, Father Brock '00, and Father Scanlan give interesting talks.

In spite of the most unfavorable weather the last night a large number were present at the Catholic Club reception to the Freshmen, which was held in the Union. The space available in the two adjoining rooms was taken to accommodate the members and the guests. After a very enjoyable dinner, L. F. Walsh, president of the Club and toastmaster for the evening, spoke briefly on the purposes of the Club and the object of the Catholics at the Institute. Dean Burton was then introduced and given a rousing "M. I. T." He said that although this was the first time he had addressed the Club in public, he had seen all the members at least once before, and some of the members even often. He next pointed out the advantages that can be gotten from an organization like the Catholic Club, adding that some members should not confine themselves to this club alone, but should give the other clubs at the Institute the benefit of these advantages. He suggested that the T. C. A. and Catholic Club could do a lot of good by appointing a committee of advisors to help the new organization.

The weather during the past week has been of such a character that tennis playing was impossible, but the officers of the Association hope that if the weather permits the matches will be played as quickly as possible since the time remaining is very short. Only four matches in singles have been played so far, but practically the entire tournament has been delayed over a week.

UNION CHURCH RECEPTION

The Union Church extends an invitation to all students to be present at an open house to students in the church parlors, Columbus and West Newton street, at 7:45 this evening.

Several Freshmen from the West were reported to be constructing an iron fence.
