TALK ON "THE STATE CARE OF INEBRIATES"

President of St. Vincent de Paul Society Speaks at Catholic Club Dinner.

About sixty members of the Catholic Club attended the dinner at the Union Wednesday evening. The speaker of the occasion was Dr. John A. Horgan, president of the St. Vincent de Paul Society and now connected with the Foxboro State Hospital.

Dr. Horgan's subject was "The State Care of Inebriates," the treatment and care of habitual drunkards being the field of his particular investigation and work. The speaker cited a number of cases showing the effect of an overindulgence of alcoholic stimulants upon the human brain and body, and described the methods employed to overcome these effects and to restore the inebriate to normal health.

A man's mental powers, declared the speaker, as measured by the quickness of his perceptive faculties, decrease in proportion to the degree of drunkenness. He also emphasized the danger of beginning moderate drinking, describing further the attendant symptoms which proclaim the habitual drinker.

The treatment of inebriates taken to the Foxboro institution does not depend upon the reaction of drugs. In fact, Dr. Horgan said that no medicine was used at all in these cases. The remedial efforts are all aimed toward keeping the subject away from the taste of alcohol and improving his general physical condition. In this connection, the speaker said that the State had purchased a farm to facilitate this method of treatment, to which the Foxboro inmates will be moved.

Dr. Horgan closed his talk with a few suggestions to his listeners for helping any unfortunate who in the future might come to them under the new system. At a short business session of the club a committee was appointed, consisting of Mclachlan and O'Keefe, for the purpose of investigating the housing of the Catholic Club in new quarters when the Institute moves to its new site.

E. E. SOCIETY TRIP

Members To Inspect New Boylston Street Subway Tomorrow.

Tomorrow at two o'clock the members of the E. E. Society who have signed up will leave the Library in Lowell for an inspection trip of the new Boylston Street Subway, now in the process of construction. Through the course of Prof. Leeb, the contractor, the men will be enabled to get a glimpse of the inner workings of the great enterprise, and it is expected that the practical value of the ideas gained during the expedition will prove of material value to them. Mr. News has arranged to have one of the officials of the company to conduct the party.

Boys in the University of Miami have adopted the wearing of white gloves as their distinctive dress.
