CHESS TEAM WINS

Defeats Brown in Well Played Match 4 1/2-2 1/2.

By a score of four and a half to one and a half, the Tech Chess Team decisively defeated the team from Brown Saturday afternoon in the Union. The victory was well earned, and almost every match produced good play. Brown is a member of the Triangular Chess League, which is composed of Brown, Cornell and Pennsylvania. Last year the team, which, although defeated, won the admiration of the Tech men by good plays.

Of the individual matches, the one between Kenigsberg of Tech and Durfee of Brown at the first table, produced the most interest. It was Kenigsberg’s first match as first man on the team, and Durfee had the reputation of having lost no games this year. He led off with a Guioco Piano opening, which Kenigsberg successfully defended after a well-played match. The only match lost by Tech was the second table, at which Woolley of Brown successfully defended Dunn’s King’s Bishop’s Pawn show that at the end of the ninth function included in the charter of the Matteo of Palermo. The occasion is to be an important one at the thirtieth anniversary of the Circolo, and since that time editor of the season, Coach Kanaly, has been given leave to the Circle and since that time editor of the society publications.
