.Art Department Will Cost Twice As Much As Last Year—Six Color Plates.

The art department of Technique 1914, which cost a little over four hundred dollars, elicted a great deal of favorable comment, but the 1915 Board, having doubled this expense, claims to have outdone all previous efforts. The book contains six full color pages, as against the single one last year, and other factors have been improved in similar proportion.

The cost of these color drawings, which cost an proportion of their value, is high. Every color plate that goes into the book requires four separate engraver's plates and four separate printing operations. Four facsimile reproductions of one color drawing the engraver charges fifty dollars and the printer's charge for doing the extra printing in any where from fifteen to twenty-five dollars. A full page black and white drawing costs five dollars at the engraver's, and every small heading adds one dollar to the engraver's bill.

A little mental arithmetic will soon convince one that to scatter pictures through a book may bring great pleasure both to him who places them there and to him who looks at them, but also realize the amount necessary to insure the success of the book financially.

This year's book has insisted that the best ideas be eliminated and that only drawings expressing a new and original idea be considered. This has resulted in a "work that is full of interest and life. Those few who have seen any of the work have declared that no Technique before has ever equaled it. In fact many expect to hold the attention of everyone next year's book will be able to come up to the standard set by this one.

The ballots for the election of the Senior Class Day Committee, which were mailed to members of the class on Wednesday, are coming in very slowly.

The Election Committee again wishes to emphasize the importance of this election, as the outcome will determine largely the success of Class Day. Every Senier is expected to leave his ballot in before noon Tuesday, March 24, at which time the election closes. Only the names of the men who have paid their dues for this year were included in the list, and only these ballots which are signed by men who have paid their dues will be counted. MUSICAL CLUB CONCERT

Performance Well Attended—Quartet Singing a Feature.

The concert of the combined Musical Clubs, given at Natwick last night, was an immense success. The performance was given in the First Congregational Church before a large audience, who thoroughly enjoyed the clever work of the Tech men. The snappy songs and pleasing musical selections held the attention of everyone from the start.

The Glee Club quartet, comprising Tallman, Parkinson, Blakely, and Tubb, rendered several selections and were encored again and again. Tallman's song, "The Little Irish Girl," was well received and he was obliged to sing "It's All Right" before the audience asked him to continue.

The Banjo Club trio, consisting of Rankin, Brown, and Sherman, played Bacou's "Troopers," and for the encore, Rankin and Sherman played a gymnastic duet, towing their banjos into the air while they played.

The Glee Club then rendered several songs and the Banjo Club's final appearance, playing Lawing's "Darkest Dream." As an encore they played a lively one-step, "Bean Club Musings." The harmonious artists had everybody marking time with their lively tunes, and they were obliged to repeat them several times.

The concert was a success in every respect, and it will probably be repeated in the near future.

HARE AND HOUNDS

Leave Trinity Place Station at 2.05 for Newton.

The runners in the Hare and Hounds Club chase will leave Trinity Place Station this afternoon at the 2.05 train for Newton, where the chase will be held.

The course at Newton is one of the most popular among those visited by the club. It consists of a good deal of road work and easy field running with a few rolling hills. There will be two squads, one starting several minutes before the other, so that they will finish at about the same time. The slow squad will set a slow pace so that everybody will be able to keep up and nobody should hesitate in coming out. Hounds have done no running this year. The meet will take place at the Union rooms, 48 Boylston St., next to the Hotel Touraine. The admission will be twenty-five cents.

The match tonight will close the season for Tech and the men are planning a banquet in the near future to officially break training.

The following men compose the Tech team:

220-pound class: Loomis. 205-pound class: Moors.
153-pound class: Capt. Kelly, Mr. Martin, Rounds, Durkee.
140-pound class: Mays. 135-pound class: Walter, Goodell.
