GOVERNOR WALSH MEETS ALUMNI COMMITTEE

Conference Held To Consider How Institute May Improve Service.

Last Saturday President Malanour and an alumni committee conferred with Governor Walsh at the State House, discussing plans whereby the Institute may improve its service to the state. The alumni committee has ap pointed recently has appointed Whiting of the Association to consider this matter, and the Governor invited it to the conference.

According to the conference, Mr. Whiting referred to the address of Governor Walsh at the Alumni banquet, noting that the committee is the direct result of a suggestion made there. He sketched briefly the help that Tech has given the Commonwealth in the past, and the desire that the Institute and the State might become still more closely united, so that "Technology may be the strong right arm of science to Massachusetts,"

Governor Walsh deplored the lack of research information available on public problems, saying that Massa chusetts is far behind the other states in this respect. He further said that it is impossible for the Senators and Representatives themselves to investigate and study public problems; this could very profitably be done by some institution, preferably university. Tech is in a position to give material help to the State, and the Governor expressed his wish that this help might be given as thoroughly as possible. By doing this work, the Institute would gain better support from the people.

President Malanour replied that the Institute existed only for the service of the State, and that it was to be hoped that the Institute would play the leading specialist in science and maintained costly laborato ries. He said that the new location, together with Harvard and the co-operation of the people with the Institute would all tend to increase the efficiency of its services. He further pointed out the great benefits of Tech to the State in the past, citing the work done in physics, chemistry, bacteriology, and the different engineering lines.

At the close of the session Professor Jackson outlined some of the things in which the University of Wisconsin had expanded its services.

The members of the Alumni Committee are President Whiting, Secretary Walter Hamilton, J. W. E. Swain, J. D. F. Mussey, Professor Jackson, H. C. Brush and Robert G. Valentine.

Special "Gala" Bill Saturday To Mark End of Present Season

With the forthcoming week the season of the Boston Opera Company comes to an end and it performances of opera in Boston, and for nine months, as the opera house will not reopen until next April. The week will bring forth bills that will awaken interest of the public and show the company at its most versatile best, in the world performances of the Wolf and the operas of the Wolf and the modern operas of both the French and Italian schools; the Saturday night offering will be a "mixed" bill; and on Tuesday two special performances of "Hansel and Gretel" and "Frose" will be given in New Haven.

"Aida" will be sung on Wednesday night with the same splendid cast presented it so nobly on Saturday, by Mme. Lucile Weingartner as Aida, Mme. Gay as Amneris, Mr. Zanetti as Radames and Mr. Accona as Amneris, as well as Mr. Wein gartner conducting. Verdi's splendid and brilliant music will be sung in a final performance in every respect worthy of it.

The performance of "Faust" on Friday evening will be a notable occasion. For the first time, it will be produced forward Mme. Wein gartner and Mr. Mar crox in roles in which they are altogether too little known. Again, it marks the re-opening of the Welford Opera house, with a solo dance by Miss Dolores Galli; Mr. Schiavoni conducting.
