SENIOR PORTFOLIO

There will be many improvements in this year's Senior Portfolio and the book will be a new one absolutely. The appearances has been radically changed for the better, there will be a greater number of photographs in it than ever before, a special process ink that gives a softness to the tones of the cut, yet does not impair the distinctness, will be used, and yet with all the improvements the price will be one dollar less than last year. The cuts are on copper and are the best obtained. Proofs of a few have been received from the printer and show off very well. As the engravings constitute perhaps the most important single item that makes for the success of the book, great care has been taken in their production.

In view of the cheapness of this year's book, the improvements over other men, and the fact that two hundred and forty books must be sold in order to come out even financially, the committee feels that every member of the class should support them in the effort to produce the best Portfolio ever at the low price of five dollars.

Those who desire to sign up may do so on any of the following men who have sign-up books: Duffield, Crowell, Shen, Waitt, Barres, Calver, Fun, Barrett, Price, Hines, Hihner, Merrill, Peaslee, Halliday, Davenport, Trent, Toft, Wells, Waitt and Wilkins.
