...seem to disprove tradition, however, by a crude kind of blash who called to him to come in out of the rain, which was again beginning to fall. Knowing that the memory of the master he had, and went on down the bridge over the Kedron. While standing there, he heard a splash behind him, and turning, saw the same man again. The latter became insistent in demands, and it was only after a personal conflict that Mr. Knight was able to get rid of him. He returned in pitch dark, and finally managed to satisfy again a familiar face. On his way back, he passed through an olive orchard to a hill on the north side of the city, where he met a man leading a poor, whining old woman. He reflected that even the midst of despriate and treachery, there were still some kind-hearted people. After this, he soon regained the colony.

The next morning he found that the hill he had visited was the so-called "Gordon's Calvary." By many this is claimed to be the place of crucifixion, although tradition says that the crucifixion took place near the Church of the Holy Sepulchre now stands. The position of recently discovered remains of a former city wall would seem to disprove tradition, however, while there is a rather remarkable correspondence between the biblical description of the place of crucifixion and the hill. The Bible characteristics it as the "place of skulls" and the domed hill bears a great resemblance to a human skull. In fact, there are on its side two caves and a hollow which augment the resemblance. Mr. Knight spent the entire morning of Good Friday on this hill, looking over the city and the entire scene of the trial and death of the Savior.

TO THE PUBLISHER.

The following men have signified their intentions of running both the high and low hurdles: Huff '15, Currier '15, Foster '15, and Sewall '17. Besides these Awwad '14 and Clarke '15 are entered in the low hurdles and are expected to make a good showing. The men expected to enter in the hammer throw are L. G. Miller '15, Conway '15, Machine '15, J. B. Sceven '17, Seymour '17, and Alphonse '17. L. G. Miller comes from a western college and is a new man at Tech this year. He has been doing especially good work in the trials and is picked as the probable winner. Trials for the Relay Teams of all four classes will be held next Monday and Tuesday at the Field and Coach family wishes that all men who expect to enter report on those days.

The Intercollegiate Pencing finals will be held in New York, today and tomorrow.

SUTHERLAND CHosen
ASSISTANT MANAGER

ILLNESS FORCES WHITWELL TO RESIGN FROM THE POSITION

David Sutherland '14 has been chosen assistant to the General Manager of the Tech Show. This position was held for a short time by George P. Whitwell '14, but he was forced to resign because of serious illness. Sutherland was then considered as the most capable man available for the place.

CLOSE COMPETITION EXPECTED IN HURDLES

Huff '15 Picked as Probable Winner of Both High and Low Hurdles.

With only a few men entered in the hurdle races to be held at the spring meet, the competition for second and third place will be especially strong. This will be a good chance for men who have had little experience to show what they really can do with only a few weeks of outdoor training. FINANCE COMMITTEE

At the meeting of the Finance Committee held last night in the Union the committee adopted a new form of blank for the submitting of the reports of the various activities. Special discussion on the new Technology Monthly was held. The Prom Committee reported that owing to the present rate at which the money was coming in, the arrangements for the Prom could not be carried out as planned. The date of the dinner given by "Fair" Cober the committee was announced as probably the fourth of May.

It is reported that a shake-up in the Princeton crews will take place before the end of the week.
