TECH SHOW REHEARSAL AT OPERA HOUSE

Entire Cast, Chorus and Orchestra Present.
As Leading Lady.

Saturday evening a complete dress rehearsal of Tech Show was held at the Boston Opera House. The first act went on at eight o'clock and was rapidly completed, the men knowing their parts very well. F. Hastings Smith, as "Alto," charmed the small but appreciative audience and the dancing of the ballet headed by I. F. Churchill, '17, was very entertaining. Many minor details of the lighting and stage business were changed and not in the last act, the men responding well to the suggestions of the coach. The second act dragged somewhat, the men not being as well acquainted with their parts as in the first act. Rennie, '15, as a super in the operatic skit which appears in this act promises to be the feature of the regular performances.

The entire Tech Show, orchestra was present, led by Mr. William Howard, the music this year is of a much higher quality than that of previous Tech Shows. With another rehearsal the show will be ready for its opening at Smith College, Northampton on Tuesday evening.

TECHNIQUE RUSH.

the rush and the showing then made was fine, but this year it is expected that the entire student body will take part. As shown on the circular, there will be ample space reserved for all those in the parade. "Little" Rennie will wave the baton while "Young" Pales will take care of the bass drum. No great have proven the attractions of this procession that it is understood that one of the popular members of the faculty has signed it if he could carry the bass drum. Rivers and Whitney of the show have found the band an even greater attraction than the "Royal Jamboree" and its stunning chorus, while from the wilds of the woody West Brook has come to toot its little horn. From West, North and South, student body and faculty, the followers are flocking to take part in this wonderful band and with the hearty co-operation of the student body in general Junior Week 1915 will open with one of the biggest student performances in the history of the school.

CREWS ROW IN COLD WIND ON THE BASIN

Nearly Fifty Out for Practice Trials—Men Formed in Nine Fours.

In spite of the strong wind which blew across the basin Saturday afternoon the crews enjoyed a good work-out. There were nine crews out and although the men were not split up according to their classes each crew was enabled to obtain a good line on them and it is probable that they will be divided by classes some time this week. To end the last of the practice the members of last year's freshman crew got together for a short trial. In the first makeup Bouquet was given a chance at stroke. Duff was put in Bouquet's place, Berkeley rowed at two and MacRae at fours. On the second try-out Berkeley dropped out, Bouquet changed back to two and Hill, a new coxswain.

Naturally the third and fourth year classes have not such a large number of men out as the lower classes. Of the two it is reported that the senior aggregation is somewhat stronger than the junior. The chief difficulty of the final selection will probably lie with the choice of the coxswain. For its opening at Smith College, the third and fourth year classes have not such a large number of men out as the lower classes. Of the two it is reported that the Senior aggregation is somewhat stronger than the Junior. The chief difficulty of the final selection will probably lie with the choice of the freshman crew since they have the greatest number out. Three of the 1917 candidates were in last year's crew at Rindge and several of the freshmen have experience in school crews. The crews rowed Saturday at first:

First crew—Petkins, stroke; O'Brien, 2; Sifton, 3; Mumford, 1; MacRae, coxswain.
Second crew—Duff, stroke; Robertson, 3; Dunning, 2; Swett, 1; Demond, coxswain.
Third crew—MacDonald, stroke; Althouse, 2; Duff, 2; Chapman, 1; Clatyon, coxswain.
Fourth crew—Freeman, stroke; Wellington, 3; Doses, 2; Fuller, 1; Pearson, coxswain.
Fifth crew—Boyce, stroke; Aftel, 2; Rounds, 2; Crane, 1; Canby, coxswain.
Sixth crew—Bouquet, stroke; Gibert, 2; Bertrand, 1; Salt, coxswain.
Seventh crew—Dunning, stroke; Sifton, 2; Kitteriders, 2; Todt, 1; Pearson, coxswain.
Eighth crew—Bouquet, stroke; Mackay, 3; Beriowitz, 2; Duff, 1; Demond, coxswain.
Ninth crew—Hill, stroke; Mackay, 3; Bouquet, 2; Duff, 1; Demond, coxswain.
