The increasing multiplicity of the demands on the student's pocket-book made by the various activities suggests that it might be well, more as a precautionary measure than to comply any existing clauses, to systematize all solicitation made in connection with Institute affairs. Some committees such as a sub-committee of the Finance Committee might be given the regulation of all these matters, with the power to issue written permits to the approved activities, which must be shown in making all solicitations. To the un-organized, and in particular the freshmen, this would give a reliable assurance that their money was going to responsible and legitimate organizations.

This system would co-ordinate all activities on a business-like basis, and prevent their interfering with each other. An unfortunate example of the lack of this co-ordination is afforded by the recent tag day which many felt should have been held for the benefit of athletics in general and one major sport, track, in particular. The subject is at least worth consideration during the coming year.
