PROP. SWAIN SPEAKS TO CIVIL SOCIETY

Large Number Turn Out For First Smoker Of The Year.

About 125 men turned out Friday evening for the first smoker of the Civil Engineering Society. Sixty-eight men, mostly from the summer races, were voted into the society. A new pin of the same design as the old one, but of two-thirds its size, was adopted. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $150. President Thomas announced that the interchange of courtesies between the C. E. Society and the C. E. Society in regard to trips and smokers would be continued this year.

Professor Spedford introduced Professor Swain of Harvard and former secretary of the C. E. Society, who talked on the Civil Engineering Harvard Alliance, as viewed from the Harvard standpoint. The Harvard aims and ideals are really the same as ours at Technology. Both institutions believe that their graduates should be men of wide culture, able to meet men of equal status in matters of any profession. The graduates of both institutions have done much to raise the dignity of the engineer who 25 years ago was regarded merely as a mechanic. The high school engineering student needs to take as many cultural subjects as possible. Harvard believes in giving first the cultural and then the technical subjects.
