IN CHARGE OF THIS ISSUE.
Editor: G. H. Stebbins, '17.

The paramount duty of every upperclassman today is not merely to cast his ballot, but to make it represent his best judgment, arrived at after earnest investigation and consideration, as to the men best qualified to hold positions of trust and responsibility in his class. Every indication points toward a record-breaking vote. Let us all help toward making it notable for quality as well as quantity—for good results as well as good intentions.

We are in complete agreement with our communicant of last Wednesday as to the undesirable nature of the show selected for Tech Night. There are, however, many extenuating circumstances. A good, clean musical comedy would be the ideal choice, but unfortunately there were none available at the right time. Moreover, the "spidered" action of Tech men at similar occasions in the past have closed the doors of almost all the theatres to their successors. On the whole, the committee seems to have made the best of a bad situation.

The meet with Harvard tomorrow gives us our first opportunity to see our Track Team in action on the new field. Incidentally, it will show the men who give their time and energy to uphold our honor, how well we intend to back them up in their efforts.
