out for the west at 7:30, making an interval of only an hour and a half during which there was a break in the track.
The bridge will later be lowered a few inches to its foundation of concrete, faced with granite, by the removal of the trestles and rollers; the spaces at the ends will be filled in with earth, and the old structure will be demolished, but these operations will not block the traffic of the road.
A few of the men taking the trip returned on the first train which crossed the new bridge, and the rest came back by electric car, about eight-thirty.

BOSTON OPERA
"As You Like It" Begins First of January.
The New Year will usher in an interesting and important theatrical undertaking, when the Henry Jewett Players will open their season of repertoire in the Boston Opera House, with a performance of "As You Like It," on January 1. The new company will be under the artistic direction of Mr. Jewett, who needs no introduction to the American public; and Mr. W. H. Macdonald, of the Boston Opera Company, will be manager.
The aim of the new enterprise, stated simply and briefly, is to present the best of classical and modern plays, with the utmost attention to perfection of ensemble, at the lowest possible prices. The company is one of unusual excellence and even balance, English throughout. The closing, during the past fortnight, of two splendid English companies in New York, gave Mr. Jewett and Mr. Macdonald a large number of remarkably able players from whom to choose their own company. The ideal that guided them in their selection was a uniform excellence, without regard to the "star" system, and the high grade of the ensemble is assured by the thorough training of each member of the company in the exacting school of the British stage, and by their records in such companies as Sir Henry Irving's, Sir Herbert Tree's, Miss Horniman's and F. R. Benson's.
