COMMUNICATIONS
To the Editor of The Tech:

[Editorial text]

To the Editor of The Tech:

[Editorial text]

THE TECH

In the fall of 1865, the Technology Hockey team was launched this year into the unfamiliar waters of complete undergraduate control. It was realized that the success of the venture, with its tremendous advantage, would depend on the ability of the students to meet the increased financial responsibility. The Tech Show and perhaps Tech-athletes, while they are apparently to be depended upon for at least as much help as usual, cannot hope to meet the increased demand. Something further must be resorted to if the present stature of our athletics is to be maintained.

The just, logical and automatic method of accomplishing this end, which is in use at present in a great number of institutions facing a similar state of affairs, is a "blanket tax," assessed upon each student with his tuition. This form of tax would be a very radical move for Technology, and is, for the present at least, out of the question. The best approach to it which could be undertaken under present conditions would be a voluntary subscription among the students, systematically carried through with adequate publicity, so that each man would find himself constrained by public opinion to subscribe his just share of the burden. We hope such a plan will be resorted to this year, with all the careful management and thorough execution necessary to make it an unqualified success.

Students' Cast-Off Clothing
and other personal effects bought by

Keezer
360 Columbus Avenue
Near Dartmouth St.

Hockey Team Loses
The Technology Hockey team was defeated by Williams last Saturday at Williamsport in one of the last games of the year, by the score of three to nothing. In the morning the ice was perfect but by noon the sun had melted it to three inches of slush.

The home team was evidently used to such conditions not having had any good ice all winter while this facet of the arena on which they have been accustomed to playing. Team work was out of the question although the visiting team showed more speed than their opponents. Cutler of Williams scored the first goal after seven minutes of play. One minute after the second half opened Williams scored their second goal and a short time after, they scored their third and last goal, the result of a shot by Cutler which bounded off Tyndall's stick into the net, scoring for the home team.

With three offices, conveniently located in different sections of Boston, the
Old Colony Trust Company offers exceptional banking facilities for Technology men.

Modern safe deposit vaults at all offices.

Students' Cast-Off Clothing
and other personal effects bought by

Keezer
360 Columbus Avenue
Near Dartmouth St.

Hockey Team Loses
The Technology Hockey team was defeated by Williams last Saturday at Williamsport in one of the last games of the year, by the score of three to nothing. In the morning the ice was perfect but by noon the sun had melted it to three inches of slush.

The home team was evidently used to such conditions not having had any good ice all winter while this facet of the arena on which they have been accustomed to playing. Team work was out of the question although the visiting team showed more speed than their opponents. Cutler of Williams scored the first goal after seven minutes of play. One minute after the second half opened Williams scored their second goal and a short time after, they scored their third and last goal, the result of a shot by Cutler which bounded off Tyndall's stick into the net, scoring for the home team.

With three offices, conveniently located
in different sections of Boston, the
Old Colony Trust Company offers exceptional banking facilities for Technology men.

Modern safe deposit vaults at all offices.