RULES FOR FRESHMEN

The Ohio State "Lantern" has published a list of "Rules for Freshmen" which cannot but recommend itself to those who read it. In a few years the secret of the happiest and most successful college life is popular—useful. Your name must be accompanied by postage at the rate of one cent a copy.

Here are the "rules":

"Get acquainted with each other. Of these, the first two need immediate recommendation and there is nothing truer than the future advancement, namely the right spirit in which to undertake work.

In particular, he continued, "do not worry too much on the choice of a course; success can be attained equally well in any line of work, for out of every course at the Institute can be derived the two essentials of future advancement, namely the right method of attacking a problem, and the right spirit in which to undertake work."

At the conclusion of President Maclaurin's address, the meeting was turned over to Walter Harrington, '17, temporary chairman of the freshman class. The uniform class constitution was then read and officially adopted by vote of the class. Following this, the annual class dinner, to be held in the Union next Saturday, was announced.

After a brief explanation of the nature and importance of Field Day, the three temporary managers of the Field Day committee: H. H. Gardner, '17, chairman; W. C. Wood, '17, temporary chairman of the freshman class. The uniform class constitution was then read and officially adopted by vote of the class. Following this, the annual class dinner, to be held in the Union next Saturday, was announced.
