Meeting Of Competitors In Show Office Today

This afternoon at 5:00 o'clock, the Poster Competition will start at the Show Office. O. R. Freeman, '16, who composed last year's poster, will explain the requirements of the design and the conditions of the competition to the members. The preliminary sketches will be due Monday at 5:00 o'clock, at which time a general criticism of all the sketches submitted will be given to those present. The final poster must be done on double elephant paper and will be selected by a disinterested committee. Only two solid colors and black may be used in the design and space must be allowed for the title of the Show, which will be announced at the meeting this afternoon, the words, "Tech Show," and the name of the theatre at which it will be produced.

of building up a Tech Show orchestra during the second term, as has been the custom in past years.

The Technology orchestra was formed early in November by a group of students who desired to have an orchestra for the study of orchestral music, and which should be capable of playing at any Institute affair requiring the services of an orchestra. As the main object of the organization was to become an efficient orchestra, the management secured at the very outset the services of Mr. William Howard, whose work is as well known to the students here, as musical instructor. All of the rehearsals have been held under his direction and the work has progressed well, due to the thorough and scientific manner in which Mr. Howard instructs the members, both as sections and ensemble.

The recognition of the efforts of the members, afforded by the action of the Show Management, is a well-arranged and the management recognized further candidates who wish to come out to leave a note at the Cage for J. W. Proctor before the Christmas vacation.
