FENCING TEAM TO ELECT NEW LEADER.

Technology Swordsmen Lost Their Captain When McKee '16 Left For Front.

The Fencing Team schedule as drawn up by manager Herman goes into effect almost immediately. Practice will be given to Mid-Years the team has had no matches, but the present schedule calls for many, the most important being with Yale, Harvard and Columbia. The season ends with the intercollegiate at New York, where the Technology fencers will compete.

Acting Captain Daniel McIlvaine recently withdrew from the Institute and left to take part in the European conflict thus leaving the team without a leader. As yet no one has been elected to his place. There are several Annamites here who have had considerable experience as fencers, and with them in the lineup the team ought to be strengthened materially.

The present schedule is as follows: Exact dates being announced by manager Herman later. Meets with them in the lineup the team has elected to his place. There are several Annamites here who have had considerable experience as fencers, and with them in the lineup the team ought to be strengthened materially.

The members of the Architectural Society have been invited to attend the meeting.

other miscellaneous monetary features. The ship will be welcomed off Boston Light by a fleet of Technology yachts manned by "connoisseurs de croisiere" and bands of mute and private cars at the wharf.

As planned after the various class secretaries, in conjunction with I. W. Litchfield, the Field Manager and Editor of the Review, will determine upon the class "attitude to be exercised" at the Yacht Meet on Tuesday, each class being allowed to mobilize five minutes of time at the beach. Each of the numerous summit associations are asked to choose a mascot with the limitation that "said mascot must be capable of being carried, and of passing through a door," when it was feared that the "im- mutable outfit had chosen Mount Rainier."

Of the program in the Great Court of the New Buildings on Tuesday evening and the Grand Jamboree in Symphony Hall on Wednesday evening "those in charge speak little and say nothing." The dedication of the buildings on Wednesday, the fourteenth, will be most impressive, taking place in the Great Court at the afternoon, at a time when the light and shade on the wings, and on the high dome above, will add to the beautiful setting for the ceremony.

There will be of course special features such as a tour of the halls in business on Monday afternoon, followed by a tea to be held on the roof of the buildings, with a real view of the San Francisco Bay, viewed from Corry Hill to Charles Street. A large loving cup will be given to the alumni coming from the greatest distance in the Reunion and another for the best Technology song. A detailed program for the event of the five days follows:
