Dormitory Heating Trouble

There has been some trouble in the dormitories about getting sufficient heat on cold days. At present the permanent steam pipe line is not ready for use and a temporary line of small pipe has been run over the surface of the ground from the power house to the dormitories. The steam in this pipe is a pressure of twenty-eight pounds but occasionally on cold days by the time it reaches the dormitories it does not have a pressure of more than one and a half pounds. There are various pipes connected to the permanent pipe line to aid in heating, but one is now being fused to the temporary line so that the regulation of heat will probably now be more exact.
