BOSTON UNIVERSITY

Law School

12 Ashburton Place, Boston

The purpose of the school is to give the student such training in the principles of law and such instruction in the technique of the profession as will best prepare him for active practice wherever the English system of law prevails. The course of study for the L.L.D. degree comprises three full school years. For those who have received a degree from any other recognized school of law the duration of the course will be determined upon the showing in accordance with rules adopted by the school of the College of Law of the application.

COMMUNICATION

In the Editor of THE TECH.

Dear Sirs:—In the last issue of The Tech, there has appeared a year-annual glance for the coming year. There you will find the question, "Why do not the Marshall and the China Interest (or the other minorities of China from other politicians)". The article went on to say that, at least in the early stage of an event, the others of all other efforts. The following will right only as the Chinese stand. A plan, developed by the Chinese in order to get that best out and let them benefit, a tip or note or some such plan, but our effort is not on the same page. While our plan is probably a better plan, we are not yet able to criticize on the same terms. If we have our chance, we shall make the best of the situation.
