15 Cups Up For Spring Meet

K. Eald, Editor-in-chief of Technique, will be the featured speaker. He described the plans for Technique Week which is the first event of Junior Week. The main feature will be the race that was to be run on the Copley Hall track. The race will be run on the same track that was used last year. The slips will be sold at the Field at fifty cents a piece.

The next speaker, Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, spoke briefly upon the Spring Inter-class Meet to be held Privy starting. The chances in this meet strongly favor the Boston University, as the East and Southwark have shown very little interest so far.

The effects of the different events have been magnified by members of the track who have had more experience and activities and the track managers.

Track has probably suffered more than any of the other Institute activities on account of the war, as some of Technique's strongest candidates, Princeton, Tufts and Harvard have called off all of their races. Track will, however, carry out its schedule so far as possible, this action being based on the theory that athletic training is beneficial as a preparation for military training.

Tickets for the Inter-class Meet may be obtained at the Field at fifty cents a piece.

J. L. Kingman, Manager of the Model Club, sent a message to Mr. Kingman, Manager Kingman gave assurance that this year's arrangements have been made with the New England Depository Company, which uses the hall in a most sanitary manner. The lighting effects are being arranged for by the New England Depostitory Company, which will be new features in this concert.

There have been two sections received for the New England Depository Company, which has passed here-toco-fuards unheeded will be given a chance to do itself justice. The voice music will be played by the same orchestra as the Winter Concert.

The candidates for the Institute tennis team were given their first try-out of the season last Saturday afternoon at Jarvis Field. Twenty men competed in the try-out, and the team manager hopes that many more will come out during Junior Week. Practice will be held on Jarvis Field, Cambridge, at 3:00 o'clock Wednesday morning. The present all candidates for the freshman team will report with the varsity, and a tentative list of the varsity will be arranged for the 1919 team.
